Release 1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once:

- sourced and critiqued national and international child protection frameworks and used these to analyse their own service and its methods and systems
- undertaken at least three clinical supervision sessions to reflect on own practice and develop insight into biases and blocks to working effectively with clients
- used professional experience and sectoral knowledge to recommend improvements to the service and support colleagues to enhance their practice.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- relevant legislation and policy
- key stakeholders in the sector and authorities responsible for overseeing child protection

- national and international practice frameworks
- the role and purpose of clinical supervision
- the principles of reflective practice.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- national frameworks, such as "Protecting Children is Everyone's Business: National Framework for Protecting Australia's Children 2009–2020"
- relevant state-based frameworks, such as Western Australia's "Signs of Safety Child Protection Practice Framework" and Victoria's "Best Interests Framework".

Note: assessors must ensure that frameworks referenced are current and address national and state contexts.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Release 1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- developed and implemented at least one multi-agency investigation into an allegation of child abuse or neglect, including:
  - sourcing key agencies for involvement in investigations and assessments and working collaboratively with those agencies
  - identifying key issues and considerations to be addressed in regard to the needs of the child and selecting and developing a strategy to respond to those issues
  - evaluating the chosen strategy to ensure it meets the key principles of child protection work
  - implementing the best strategy for the child and facilitating the associated practical arrangements
  - documenting the strategy, at all stages
  - working effectively and collaboratively with other agencies and personnel within organisational and interagency frameworks.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- roles, responsibilities and functions of key agencies and personnel participating in interagency and collaborative casework
- a range of potential issues that may present and require action in investigation and risk-assessment strategies
- organisation and interagency child protection frameworks
- range of options for intervention
- key principles of child protection work
- legislation and regulations of child protection work relevant to the investigation and assessment of children at risk
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- a real multi-agency investigation and child risk assessment strategy

OR

- a detailed case study which reflects multi-agency roles and responsibilities

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements. Significant change to knowledge evidence. Supersedes CHCPROT702A

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to critically analyse complex information and work collaboratively with others to determine appropriate child protection orders and proceed with application for, and implementation of, those orders. It includes the ability to develop and articulate in writing a substantiated rationale for decisions made.

This unit applies to child protection workers who use advanced critical analysis, communication and evaluation skills to make professional judgements in relation to applications for child protection orders. Orders and processes will vary depending on the State or Territory of work.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand Standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1. Determine and recommend child protection orders

1.1 Critically analyse information and make substantiated and informed decision about whether a child is in need of protection based on assessment of presenting risk factors

1.2 Use professional collaboration to inform the decision making process

1.3 Inform the child (if age appropriate) and parents about the recommendation and process to apply for a child protection order

1.4 Communicate with child in age appropriate ways to determine their views and wishes in relation to court application

1.5 Recommend client application for most appropriate order based on legislative and assessment requirements

1.6 Prepare affidavits according to legal requirements and include children's views, according to individual case needs

2. Apply for orders

2.1 Develop application for order according to legal requirements

2.2 Clearly articulate and substantiate in writing the rationale, assessment plan and required provisions for orders

2.3 Clearly explain to parents and child (where age appropriate) the rationale for applying for the order and the effects of the order

2.4 Select and use the most appropriate medium to apply for orders to the magistrate

2.5 Provide a copy of the order to at least one parent

2.6 Develop accurate and complete documentation associated with orders according to organisation policy

3. Prepare for, and appear in court

3.1 Coordinate operational aspects of court processes according to organisation procedures

3.2 Assess case information and determine appropriate responses for court examinations

3.3 Represent the organisation in a professional manner in court and adhere to court standards of presentation and behaviour

3.4 Answer questions and present facts clearly, concisely, confidently and accurately

4. Implement and supervise orders

4.1 Complete documentation related to implementation of orders

- 4.2 Use effective communication skills to engage and build rapport with children and families
- 4.3 Collaborate with professional colleagues and families as part of review and decision-making processes
- 4.4 Articulate and document rationale for decisions made
- 4.5 Participate in development of forward plans with family using strengths-based approaches
- 4.7 Provide visitation support to child, family and carer according to case plan
- 4.8 Regularly review case plans, make judgements about progress and make adjustments accordingly
- 4.9 Use evaluation of individual cases to inform learning and future work planning

Release 1	This version was released in CHC Community Services Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages.  New unit developed to address child development requirements of educators working with school age children.

Performance Evidence

- supported the development of children in at least three different situations/activities (including different age groups and abilities), including:
  - interacting with children to holistically support development and learning appropriate to the individual child's abilities and ages
  - providing a variety of experiences and environments to support the different areas of children's development (physical, creative, social, emotional, language and cognitive)
- performed the activities outlined in the performance criteria of this unit during a period of at least 120 hours of work in at least one regulated education and care service.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. These include knowledge of:

- code of ethics
- United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child
- how to access:
  - the National Quality Framework
  - the National Quality Standards
  - the relevant approved learning framework
- how to navigate through framework and standards documents to find areas relevant to this unit of competency
- introductory level child development for children, including:
  - early brain development
  - importance of the early years for subsequent educational success

  - trauma
  - other life experiences, which interrupt appropriate childhood activities, and their potential long-term harmful impacts
- biological and environmental influences on development
- symbol systems including letters, numbers, time, money and musical notation.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in a regulated education and care service.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care
- the relevant approved learning framework under the National Quality Framework for Early Childhood Education and Care.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks:

- established and maintained at least one network in the community in which youth work is performed. This includes:
  - using a range of community engagement strategies
  - respecting difference and embracing diversity of cultures
  - advocating for young people's participation in community issues and decision-making where appropriate
  - facilitating negotiations in conflict situations in communities where the conflict may be between young people and other community stakeholders
- referred at least one young person to appropriate services within or external to the community
- implemented community development principles and strategies to engage young people and others in at least one community action and response.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- relevant historical, social, political, economic, cultural and environmental factors that impact on community
- political and power dynamics within the community, including key stakeholders and role and place of young people in communities
- duty of care requirements and application in the community context
- community development principles
- youth-centred practices with a focus on the young person as the primary stakeholder
- relevant youth cultures, and social, political and economic and professional frameworks
- own cultural values, cultural lens and ethnocentrism
- organisation standards, policies and procedures.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

  - facilitating the young person's individual expression of needs to families/carers and others
  - using varied communication strategies with young people and families/carers to ensure that opportunities for exploring issues are fair, confidential, and appropriate to the needs of individuals
  - advocating for the needs of young people
- assessed at least two clients' background and behaviour to determine family intervention and youth support processes
- planned family intervention-based support strategically to achieve service outcomes and priorities for at least one young person.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

These include knowledge of:

- principles of communication for specified outcomes, including:
  - empathetic listening
  - meaning and impact of body language
  - eye contact
  - interpreting hidden and complex messages
  - feedback
  - use of reflection, review and debriefing
  - facilitation of interaction and participation
- principles of group dynamics and interaction including:
  - differentials in power
  - empathy/identification
  - trust-building
  - challenging
- rights of children and young people
- ethics and codes of conduct where the young person is the primary client
- privacy legislation applied to situations of information exchange between a range of individuals and organisations about a young person as primary client of the service
- understanding of own values and attitudes and their impact on work and relationships.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs)

2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Required skills:

- communication skills to complete documentation, report findings, interpret written and oral information, and negotiate client requirements and access arrangements
- computing skills to access the internet and web pages, prepare and complete online forms, lodge electronic documents and search online databases
- interpersonal skills to relate to people from a range of social, cultural and ethnic backgrounds and varying physical and mental abilities
- observation skills to assess condition of property
- organisational skills to plan and arrange a property inspection and schedule and meet time lines
- technical skills to interpret such things as maps, plans and diagrams.

Required knowledge and understanding:

- basic knowledge of property contracts and administrative requirements
- Building Code of Australia (BCA) requirements
- inspection methods for different property types
- limitations of work role, responsibility and professional abilities

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- OHS issues and requirements
- organisational and professional procedures, ethical practices and business standards
- relevant federal and state or territory legislation and local government regulations related to:
  - anti-discrimination
  - consumer protection
  - environmental issues
  - equal employment opportunity (EEO)
  - financial probity
  - franchise and business structures
  - industrial relations
  - OHS
  - property sales, leasing and management
- types of property classes and characteristics.

Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, the range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for this Training Package.

Overview of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed through practical demonstration of inspecting a property. Targeted written (including alternative formats where necessary) or verbal questioning to assess the candidate's underpinning knowledge would provide additional supporting evidence of competence. The demonstration and questioning would include collecting evidence of the candidate's knowledge and application of ethical standards and relevant federal, and state or territory legislation and regulations. This assessment may be carried out in a simulated or workplace environment.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- conducting and completing a property inspection within agreed timeframes and in compliance with all applicable industry, legal and organisational requirements

- applying effective communication and coordination techniques required to access property and organise inspection
- knowledge of agency practices, ethical standards and legislative requirements associated with property inspections
- complying with established inspection processes, noting variations in approved property requirements, and preparing findings in a report suitable for analysis and dissemination.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Resource implications for assessment include:

- access to suitable simulated or real opportunities and resources to demonstrate competence
- assessment instruments that may include personal planner and assessment record book
- access to a registered provider of assessment services.

Where applicable, physical resources should include equipment modified for people with disabilities.

Access must be provided to appropriate learning and/or assessment support when required.

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate, and appropriate to the language and literacy capacity of the candidate and the work being performed.

Validity and sufficiency of evidence require that:

- competency will need to be demonstrated over a period of time reflecting the scope of the role and the practical requirements of the workplace
- where the assessment is part of a structured learning experience the evidence collected must relate to a number of performances assessed at different points in time and separated by further learning and practice with a decision of competence only taken at the point when the assessor has complete confidence in the person's competence
- all assessment that is part of a structured learning experience must include a combination of direct, indirect and supplementary evidence
- where assessment is for the purpose of recognition (RCC/RPL), the evidence provided will need to be current and show that it represents competency demonstrated over a period of time
- assessment can be through simulated project-based activity and must include evidence relating to each of the elements in this unit.

In all cases where practical assessment is used it will be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge. Questioning will be undertaken in such a manner as is appropriate to the language and literacy levels of the candidate and any cultural issues that may affect responses to the questions, and will reflect the requirements of the competency and the work being performed.

CPPDSM4028 Identify and analyse risks and opportunities in the property industry

Modification History

Release 1.

Replaces superseded equivalent CPPDSM4028A Identify and analyse risks and opportunities in the property industry.

This version first released with CPP Property Services Training Package Version 5.

Application

This unit of competency specifies the outcomes required to identify and analyse potential threats and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations. It requires the ability to assess property systems and assets to determine the level of risk exposure and identify areas of opportunity for property operations.

The unit supports workers in the property industry involved in identifying and analysing potential threats and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations. It applies to real estate agents, property managers, strata managers, Nationwide House Energy Rating Scheme (NatHERS) assessors, home sustainability assessors and facility managers.

Licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit in some States and Territories. Relevant state and territory regulatory authorities should be consulted to confirm those requirements.

This version first released with CPP Property Services Training Package Version 5.

Performance Evidence

A person demonstrating competency in this unit must satisfy all of the elements, performance criteria, foundation skills and range of conditions of this unit.

The person must also identify and analyse potential risks and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations.

The person must demonstrate this performance by identifying and analysing three potential risks and three potential opportunities relating to the operations of one property-related organisation. The findings of this work must be documented in a form suitable for presentation to senior managers in the organisation.

In doing the above, the person must:

- assess level of potential risk or opportunity against agreed assessment criteria
- establish terms of reference and develop effective action plan and structure for analysis and assessment
- apply knowledge of organisation's practices, ethical standards, and legislative requirements associated with identifying and analysing potential risks and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations
- obtain information from a range of sources and consultative processes to ensure accurate understanding of operating environment
- review and prepare findings relating to risks and opportunities in a format suitable for presentation.

Knowledge Evidence

A person demonstrating competency in this unit must demonstrate knowledge of:

- client and organisational confidentiality requirements
- concept of litigation
- insurance policies, codes and operations
- mechanisms to obtain and analyse feedback on findings of risk and opportunity analysis
- principles and techniques for identifying and measuring risks and opportunities
- key requirements of federal, state or territory legislation and local government regulations relating to:
  - anti-discrimination
  - consumer protection
  - environmental issues
  - equal employment opportunity (EEO)
  - financial probity
  - franchise and business structures
  - industrial relations
  - work health and safety (WHS)
  - property sales, leasing and management
- property industry code of conduct and professional standards
- risk and opportunity assessment techniques and processes.

Assessment Conditions

The following must be present and available to learners during assessment activities:

- equipment:
  - computer system with internet, email and printing facilities
- specifications:
  - organisation's policies and procedures for identifying and assessing risks
  - procedures for identifying and analysing risks and opportunities
- relationship with team members and supervisor:

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Required skills:

- communication skills to source feedback and use interviewing and questioning techniques to obtain information
- computing skills to access the internet and web pages, prepare and complete online forms, lodge electronic documents and search online databases
- interpersonal skills to relate to people from a range of social, cultural and ethnic backgrounds and varying physical and mental abilities
- organisational skills to plan time lines and reporting mechanisms, and record and file information
- observation skills to identify existing or potential risks and opportunities
- problem solving skills to apply reasoning and logical analysis to measure risk consequence and to recommend countermeasures or contingency plans
- research skills to collate feedback, analyse and interpret information and to form recommendations

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- technical skills to complete risk assessment plans.

Required knowledge and understanding:

- client and organisational confidentiality requirements
- concept of litigation
- insurance policies, codes and operations
- mechanisms to obtain and analyse feedback
- organisational goals and objectives, activities and systems
- principles and techniques for identifying and measuring risks and opportunities
- property operations history and precedents regarding risk to operations and areas of opportunity
- relevant federal and state or territory legislation and local government regulations related to:
  - anti-discrimination
  - consumer protection
  - environmental issues
  - equal employment opportunity (EEO)
  - financial probity
  - franchise and business structures
  - industrial relations
  - OHS
  - property sales, leasing and management
- relevant industry codes of practice and standards
- risk and opportunity assessment techniques and processes.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, the range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for this Training Package.

Overview of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed through practical demonstration of identifying and analysing potential threats and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations. Targeted written (including alternative formats where necessary) or verbal questioning to assess the candidate's underpinning knowledge would provide additional supporting evidence of competence. The demonstration and questioning would include collecting evidence of the candidate's knowledge and application of ethical standards and relevant federal, and state or territory legislation and regulations. This assessment may be carried out in a simulated or workplace environment.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- assessing level of risk or opportunity potential against agreed assessment criteria
- establishing terms of reference and developing effective action plan and structure for analysis and assessment
- knowledge of organisation's practices, ethical standards and legislative requirements associated with identifying and analysing potential threats and opportunities to ensure safe and effective property operations
- obtaining information from a range of sources and consultative processes to ensure accurate understanding of operating environment
- reviewing and preparing findings relating to risks and opportunities in a format suitable for presentation.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Resource implications for assessment include:

- access to suitable simulated or real opportunities and resources to demonstrate competence
- assessment instruments that may include personal planner and assessment record book
- access to a registered provider of assessment services.

Where applicable, physical resources should include equipment modified for people with disabilities.

Access must be provided to appropriate learning and/or assessment support when required.

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate, and appropriate to the language and literacy capacity of the candidate and the work being performed.

Validity and sufficiency of evidence require that:

- competency will need to be demonstrated over a period of time reflecting the scope of the role and the practical requirements of the workplace
- where the assessment is part of a structured learning experience the evidence collected must relate to a number of performances assessed at different points in time and separated by further learning and practice with a decision of competence only taken at the point when the assessor has complete confidence in the person's competence

- all assessment that is part of a structured learning experience must include a combination of direct, indirect and supplementary evidence
- where assessment is for the purpose of recognition (RCC/RPL), the evidence provided will need to be current and show that it represents competency demonstrated over a period of time
- assessment can be through simulated project-based activity and must include evidence relating to each of the elements in this unit.

In all cases where practical assessment is used it will be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge. Questioning will be undertaken in such a manner as is appropriate to the language and literacy levels of the candidate and any cultural issues that may affect responses to the questions, and will reflect the requirements of the competency and the work being performed.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording in the performance criteria is detailed below. ## Evidence Guide

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, the range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for this Training Package.

Overview of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed through practical demonstration of analysing client objectives and formulating a relevant strategy to enable the right market mix of tenants to be targeted. Targeted written (including alternative formats where necessary) or verbal questioning to assess the candidate's underpinning knowledge would provide additional supporting evidence of competence. The demonstration and questioning would include collecting evidence of the candidate's knowledge and application of ethical standards and relevant federal, and state or territory legislation and regulations. This assessment may be carried out in a simulated or workplace environment.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- documenting a tenancy mix strategy that outlines the targeted market segment
- knowledge of organisation's practices, ethical standards and legislative requirements associated with analysing client objectives and formulating a relevant strategy to enable the right market mix of tenants to be targeted
- obtaining feedback on draft tenancy mix strategy and amending accordingly
- profiling tenancy needs of client after examining client business plans
- selecting and implementing suitable marketing strategies.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Resource implications for assessment include:

- a registered provider of assessment services
- assessment materials and tools
- candidate special requirements
- competency standards
- cost and time considerations
- suitable assessment venue and equipment
- workplace documentation.

Where applicable, physical resources should include equipment modified for people with disabilities.

Access must be provided to appropriate learning and/or assessment support when required.

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate, and appropriate to the language and literacy capacity of the candidate and the work being performed.

Validity and sufficiency of evidence require that:

- competency will need to be demonstrated over a period of time reflecting the scope of the role and the practical requirements of the workplace
- where the assessment is part of a structured learning experience the evidence collected must relate to a number of performances assessed at different points in time and separated by further learning and practice with a decision of competence only taken at the point when the assessor has complete confidence in the person's competence
- all assessment that is part of a structured learning experience must include a combination of direct, indirect and supplementary evidence
- where assessment is for the purpose of recognition (RCC/RPL), the evidence provided will need to be current and show that it represents competency demonstrated over a period of time
- assessment can be through simulated project-based activity and must include evidence relating to each of the elements in this unit.

In all cases activity and must include evidence relating to each of the where practical assessment is used it will be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge. Questioning will be undertaken in such a manner as is appropriate to the language and literacy levels of the candidate and any cultural issues that may affect responses to the questions, and will reflect the requirements of the competency and the work being performed.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording in the performance criteria is detailed below.   - property sales, leasing and management
- selection methods and processes.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, the range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for this Training Package.

Overview of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed through practical demonstration of selecting and coordinating a consultancy team to complete property projects. Targeted written (including alternative formats where necessary) or verbal questioning to assess the candidate's underpinning knowledge would provide additional supporting evidence of competence. The demonstration and questioning would include collecting evidence of the candidate's knowledge and application of ethical standards and relevant federal, and state or territory legislation and regulations. This assessment may be carried out in a simulated or workplace environment.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- establishing contractor requirements through research of project specifications and consultation
- inspecting a completed project to confirm it meets project plan requirements
- knowledge of organisation's practices, ethical standards and legislative requirements associated with selecting and coordinating a consultancy team to complete property projects
- monitoring a project against the project plan and using established communication channels
- preparing selection criteria and conducting a contractor selection process.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Resource implications for assessment include:

- a registered provider of assessment services
- assessment materials and tools
- candidate special requirements
- competency standards
- cost and time considerations
- suitable assessment venue and equipment
- workplace documentation.

Where applicable, physical resources should include equipment modified for people with disabilities.

Access must be provided to appropriate learning and/or assessment support when required.

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate, and appropriate to the language and literacy capacity of the candidate and the work being performed.

Validity and sufficiency of evidence require that:

- competency will need to be demonstrated over a period of time reflecting the scope of the role and the practical requirements of the workplace
- where the assessment is part of a structured learning experience the evidence collected must relate to a number of performances assessed at different points in time and separated by further learning and practice with a decision of competence only taken at the point when the assessor has complete confidence in the person's competence
- all assessment that is part of a structured learning experience must include a combination of direct, indirect and supplementary evidence
- where assessment is for the purpose of recognition (RCC/RPL), the evidence provided will need to be current and show that it represents competency demonstrated over a period of time
- assessment can be through simulated project-based activity and must include evidence relating to each of the elements in this unit.

In all cases activity and must include evidence relating to each of the where practical assessment is used it will be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge. Questioning will be undertaken in such a manner as is appropriate to the language and literacy levels of the candidate and any cultural issues that may affect responses to the questions, and will reflect the requirements of the competency and the work being performed.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording in the performance criteria is detailed below. Add any essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts.

Project may include activities which:

- give rise to creation of an asset
- involve fitting out new structures
- involve modifying existing structures.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency. Performance criteria describe the required performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and/or the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1 Identify need to use empty hand techniques.	1.1 Applicable provisions of legislative and organisational requirements relevant to own role, competence and authority are identified and complied with. 1.2 Movements and actions of subject are continually observed to anticipate movement and aggressive actions. 1.3 Stance and distance from subject maximises range of defensive options and tactical advantages in physical contact. 1.4 Alternative response options are assessed for viability and withdrawal options are identified and incorporated into defensive options. 1.5 Personal safety needs are identified and maintained. 1.6 Appropriate interpersonal techniques are used and communication is maintained with subject.
2 Apply defensive techniques.	2.1 Empty hand techniques are applied in accordance with use of force guidelines. 2.2 Grip on subject is secure, firm and applied using level of force proportionate to the context of the threat. 2.3 Holds are applied quickly to appropriate areas of the body using recognised techniques. 2.4 Strikes and blows from subject are anticipated and positioning is adopted, parried or blocked using recognised techniques.

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
	2.5 Contact with subject is limited to the minimum necessary to removing immediate threat and is discontinued at cessation of threat.
3 Isolate subject.	3.1 Weapons and potentially dangerous items are removed from subject and located a safe distance from incident area. 3.2 Situations requiring assistance are identified and sought from relevant persons. 3.3 Subject is maintained at safe distance from members of the public and opportunities for escape are identified and minimised. 3.4 Restraint of subject is conducted in compliance with established procedures. 3.5 Subject is escorted from incident scene to a secure location in accordance with organisational procedures.
4 Evaluate response.	4.1 Effectiveness of response is reviewed and evaluated against circumstances of the incident. 4.2 Incident observations are provided accurately and constructively. 4.3 Review findings identify areas for improvement and recommendations for amendment of response procedures are provided for future practice. 4.4 Relevant documentation is completed and securely maintained with due regard to confidentiality in accordance with organisational procedures. 4.5 Effects of stress and other issues related to own well-being are recognised and managed using appropriate stress management techniques.

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge and their level required for this unit.

Required skills

- communicate and negotiate using clear and concise language
- communicate effectively with people from different social, cultural and ethnic backgrounds and of varying physical and mental abilities
- determine response appropriate to incident situation

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- identify and comply with applicable legal and procedural requirements including 'use of force' guidelines
- identify risk factors and assess degree of risk
- implement empty hand techniques without harming subject
- interpret and follow instructions and procedures
- minimise threat to self and to others by use of appropriate force options
- operate security and communications equipment
- participate in review and debrief procedures
- record, report and process information
- use negotiation techniques to defuse and resolve conflict.

Required knowledge

- communication techniques, codes and signals
- correct use of equipment including personal protective equipment
- documentation, reporting and reviewing or debriefing processes
- emergency and evacuation procedures and instructions
- empty hand techniques
- first aid procedures and their application
- incident management and methods of restraint
- legal provisions relating to powers of arrest and 'use of force' guidelines
- negotiation techniques for managing conflict
- observation and monitoring techniques
- powers and procedures for effecting an arrest
- principles of effective communication including interpersonal techniques
- problem-solving methods and techniques
- security incidents and appropriate responses.

EVIDENCE GUIDE

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit must be able to provide evidence of:

- applying appropriate use of force according to the nature of the threat without harm to the subject

- applying empty hand techniques that avoid vital areas of the body
- identifying current and potential risk factors which might impact on the safety and security of self and others and implementing appropriate response measures
- using effective communication techniques to provide warnings and clear directions to subject, and conduct basic negotiation to defuse conflict in a manner which engages minority groups
- reacting in a timely manner to the application and termination of force
- selecting response options within specified legal and strategic limits.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Context of assessment includes:

- a setting in the workplace or environment that simulates the conditions of performance described in the elements, performance criteria and range statement.

Resource implications for assessment include:

- access to plain English version of relevant statutes and procedures
- access to a registered provider of assessment services
- access to a suitable venue and equipment
- assessment instruments including personal planner and assessment record book
- work schedules, organisational policies and duty statements.

Reasonable adjustments must be made to assessment processes where required for people with disabilities. This could include access to modified equipment and other physical resources, and the provision of appropriate assessment support.

Method of assessment

This unit of competency could be assessed using the following methods of assessment:

- observation of processes and procedures
- questioning of underpinning knowledge and skills.

Guidance information for assessment

Assessment processes and techniques must be culturally appropriate and suitable to the language, literacy and numeracy capacity of the candidate and the competency being assessed. In all cases where practical assessment is used, it should be combined with targeted questioning to assess the underpinning knowledge.

Oral questioning or written assessment may be used to assess underpinning knowledge. In assessment situations where the candidate is offered a choice between oral questioning and written assessment, questions are to be identical.

Supplementary evidence may be obtained from relevant authenticated correspondence from existing supervisors, team leaders or specialist training staff.

Range Statement

RANGE STATEMENT

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. # Assessment Requirements for CSCOFM007 Protect the safety and welfare of young offenders

Modification History

Release	Comments
1	These Assessment Requirements were released in CSC Correctional Services Training Package release 1.0 and meet the Standards for Training Packages.

Please refer to advice in the CSC Assessment Guide.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the candidate must demonstrate evidence of performance of the following on at least one occasion.

- communicating effectively with young people to identify risks and establish needs
- assessing risks, special needs and developmental levels for young offenders
- checking and confirming with reliable sources inside and outside the organisation the accuracy and relevance of information
- taking responsibility for duty of care outcomes based on the degree of risk and the special needs of young offenders, including personal contact
- preserving the rights and responsibilities of young offenders and their safety and welfare
- making conclusions that are clearly based on available information
- clearly establishing expectations and boundaries to young offenders
- documenting information about young offender's welfare in reports that are clear, comprehensive and in the format required by the organisation
- using a range of communication strategies to discover risk factors and consult with family members and specialists
- providing supervision and care, based on assessed risk and justifiable degree of care and concern

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence must satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria. If not otherwise specified the depth of knowledge demonstrated must be appropriate to the job context of the candidate.

- categories of risk identified in the organisation's risk management plans and relevant to the offender
- procedures and requirements for reporting risks and incidents, and monitoring and evaluating participation in programs by young offenders

- legislation relevant to work role and responsibilities and service guidelines
- potential special needs of young offenders
- organisation's code of conduct, code of ethics and duty of care
- range of specialist support services and programs available to young offenders
- processes for getting advice and assistance when there are problems
- cultural practices that will have an impact on decisions made about what allowances are made and permission given
- resources available for young offenders
- limitations on family involvement in young offender's assessment of need
- special protective strategies
- consequences of options for the safety and protection of young offenders

Assessment Conditions

The knowledge requirements of this unit may be assessed off the job, for example, in a structured learning process, and performance outcomes, which should be assessed ideally in the workplace in routine activities and in conjunction with other units with specific functional focus.

Valid assessment of this unit requires the range of conditions likely to be encountered by an individual when working with young offenders. Case studies and workplace scenarios must be used to capture the range of situations that may be encountered when working with young offenders.

Assessors must satisfy the NVR/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Clarify performance requirements	1.1 Discuss performance requirements with appropriate personnel 1.2 Confirm own role and level of responsibility in relation to performances 1.3 Obtain required resources in a timely fashion and in line with level of responsibility
2. Practise instrument and/or act	2.1 Maintain personal practice to achieve the required standard for rehearsals and performance 2.2 Develop technical facility and address performance issues and weaknesses during private practice sessions 2.3 In consultation with appropriate personnel, develop interpretation of music to be performed 2.4 Participate in rehearsals as required and adjust performance techniques in response to feedback from others 2.5 Listen critically to own performance and the performance of others to inform own work 2.6 Respond to other players and adjust own performance in ensemble as required
3. Observe OHS principles in private practice	3.1 Establish practice routines to ensure correct posture and movement to minimise strain on the body 3.2 Ensure that practice sessions are of a suitable length to avoid fatigue and mental or physical stress 3.3 Perform warm-up exercises as part of practice routines 3.4 Apply principles of OHS in physical stance and posture during practice sessions and performance 3.5 Plan and take reasonable breaks for refreshment and relaxation

4. Use body effectively and safely	4.1 Assess and monitor body to realise its own potential and limitations and to maximise performance 4.2 Avoid danger of injury both to self and others through controlled use of body to maximise performance 4.3 Note possible stresses and strains of activity on specific parts of the body and take suitable preventative measures to minimise them 4.4 Where damage is done or suspected, seek advice promptly from appropriate sources and take recommended remedial action
5. Implement strategies to overcome the effects of performance anxiety	5.1 In consultation with appropriate personnel, identify the symptoms and likely causes of performance anxiety 5.2 Identify and implement a range of strategies to overcome performance anxiety to suit own needs and circumstances 5.3 Evaluate the effectiveness of strategies used to overcome performance anxiety and modify those strategies as required

- broad understanding of:
  - repertoire relevant to the selected instrument
  - musical terminology
  - acoustic principles relevant to selected instrument or voice
  - instrument parts, applications, range, capabilities, care and maintenance
  - performance and instrumental protocol and customs in selected musical style and repertoire
  - impact of different performance environments on musical outcomes
  - chosen genres and their musical forms and conventions in performance
  - chord and melodic formulae in area of specialisation

CUSMPF402A Develop and maintain stagecraft skills

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 2	Created to fix formatting errors only. Released with CUS09 Music Training Package version 1.2

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to apply a well-developed range of stagecraft skills during performances.

Application of the Unit

Musicians and performers in all genres apply the skills and knowledge described in this unit. Applying an appropriate range of stagecraft skills can lead to audiences having a more enjoyable and entertaining experience. An essential feature of stagecraft skills is the ability to engage with audiences - whether through dialogue, movement or gestures. A performer's image and reputation are often linked to the way they approach performances, not just with their ability to play an instrument or sing. More complex skills associated with leading a group in the area of stagecraft are covered in:

- CUSMPF602A Manage stagecraft aspects of performances.

- procedures for accessing and using digital technology.

Assessment Conditions

Assessment texts and tasks reflect those typically found in the workplace.

Advice and support is available if requested.

Culturally appropriate processes and techniques suited to the language, literacy and numeracy capacity of individuals and the work being performed must be used.

Reasonable adjustments can be made to ensure equity in assessment for people with disabilities.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements, have sound knowledge of the ACSF and have demonstrable expertise in the vocational contextualisation and assessment of digital technology.

FSKDIG03 Use digital technology for routine workplace tasks

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This streamlined version first released with FSK Foundation Skills Training Package version 1.0 .

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to use digital technology to undertake routine workplace tasks.

The unit applies to individuals at Australian Core Skills Framework (ACSF) level 3 who need to undertake a vocational training pathway or workplace tasks.

This unit is designed for integration and contextualisation with vocational units to support achievement of vocational competency.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Unit Sector

Digital Technology

Elements and Performance Criteria

Element	Performance Criteria
Elements describe the essential outcomes.	Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.
1. Prepare to use digital technology	1.1 Identify routine workplace tasks 1.2 Identify appropriate digital technology for the task 1.3 Interpret routine workplace information and terminology
2. Complete routine	2.1 Interpret routine information from a range of sources to access

Element	Performance Criteria
workplace task	and use digital technology 2.2 Follow workplace procedures to perform a task using technology 2.3 Review performance

Foundation Skills

This section describes language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills incorporated in the performance criteria that are required for competent performance.

HLTAAP001 Recognise healthy body systems

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to work with basic information about the human body and to recognise and promote ways to maintain healthy functioning of the body.

This unit applies to any worker who needs to use and interpret information that includes references to client anatomy and physiology.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

1. Work with information about the human body

1.1 Correctly use and interpret health terminology that describes the normal structure, function and location of the major body systems

1.2 Correctly use and interpret information that relates to the interrelationships between major components of each body system and other structures

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

2. Recognise and promote ways to support healthy functioning of the body

2.1 Review factors that contribute to maintenance of a healthy body

2.2 Evaluate how the relationships between different body systems affect and support healthy functioning

2.3 Enhance quality of work activities by using and sharing information about healthy functioning of the body

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Unit Mapping Information

No equivalent unit.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- worked effectively with information about the human body and its healthy functioning in at least 3 different situations

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- basic structure and functions of the body systems and associated components, including:
  - cells, tissues and organs
  - cardiovascular system
  - respiratory system
  - musculo-skeletal system
  - endocrine system
  - digestive system
  - urinary system
  - reproductive system
  - integumentary system
  - lymphatic system
  - nervous system, including sensory systems – eye and ear
  - the special senses – smell, taste, vision, equilibrium and hearing

- immune system
- processes, conditions and resources required by the body to support healthy functioning
  - body regulation including:
    - maintenance of body temperature
    - fluid and electrolyte (including PH) balance
    - elimination of wastes from the body
    - maintenance of blood pressure
  - protection from infection
  - physical activity – active and passive

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including client health information
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including integration of problem solving activities

HLTAAP002 Confirm physical health status

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Minimal changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to obtain and interpret information about client health status and to check a client's physical health. It requires a detailed knowledge of anatomy and physiology.

This unit applies to individuals working directly with clients and who assist in the provision of health care services. Some disciplines may be subject to state/territory regulatory determination regarding delegation and supervision.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

Elements define the essential outcomes

1. Obtain information about physical health status

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

1.1 Obtain accurate information about physical health status through observation, questioning or review of documentation

1.2 Interpret information based on understanding of the structure and functioning of body systems

1.3 Use information to identify any actual or potential problems regarding health status

	1.4 Take into account factors that may have impacted on an identified physical condition
2. Check physical health status	2.1 Make checks of client health status prior to delivery of health intervention using knowledge of body systems
	2.2 Clarify significance of physical health status in relation to a particular intervention in line with job role and organisation requirements
	2.3 Clarify implications and significance of physical health status with appropriate people in the case of uncertainty or limits on own capability or authority
3. Identify variations from normal physical health status	3.1 Identify variations from normal health status using standard methods and protocols
	3.2 Identify potential factors responsible for significant variations from normal health status
	3.3 Identify potential risk factors associated with variations from normal health status
	3.4 Recognise and refer potentially serious issues in line with organisation requirements

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- obtained, correctly interpreted and used anatomical and physiological client information to check the physical health status of at least 3 different people presenting with different conditions

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- role responsibilities and limitations for different members of the care team in relation to checking client health status
- concepts underpinning human anatomy and physiology, including:
  - levels of structural organisation of body systems
  - human life processes
  - homeostasis and the relationship between homeostatic imbalance and disease
- structure and function of human body systems and their interactions:

- anatomical and medical terminology:
  - when referring to the human body
  - when taking measurements in different body systems
- common disorders, problems and complaints and their signs and symptoms, associated with each body system and its components relevant to the area of work
- basic pharmacology in relation to cautions and contraindications for relevant health procedures
- causes of disease – physical, mental and emotional, and key features of each cause:
  - pathogens
  - inherited genetic conditions
  - trauma, toxins and other environmental hazards
  - nutritional factors
  - impacts caused by health interventions (iatrogenic)
  - degenerative changes in vital organ systems
  - the loss of normal control mechanisms such as the uncontrolled growth of cancer cells
- major types of cellular adaptation
- processes of metabolism, nutrition, body temperature regulation, biological maturation, inheritance and ageing
- Oral health disease of the mouth and teeth including edentulous (no-natural teeth) and dentate (having natural teeth)
- variations from normal functioning and appropriate responses in terms of:
  - referral to an appropriate medical, dental, nursing or allied health professional
  - provision of appropriate health/dental care services

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including client health information
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including:
  - analysis of health information of real people
  - integration of problem solving activities

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

HLTAHA013 Provide support in dysphagia management

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements. Minimum work hours added. Removal of pre-requisite. Significant change to knowledge evidence.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to assist a speech pathologist to support clients participating in therapy programs to improve swallowing and/or to maintain independence in the management of dysphagia.

This unit applies to allied health assistants and should be performed under the direction and supervision (direct, indirect or remote) of an allied health professional.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

Elements define the essential outcomes

1. Prepare for support of treatment and monitoring programs to promote safe swallowing and eating

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1.1 Obtain information about requirements from the speech pathologist
 1.2 Determine need for interpreter where required
 1.3 Confer with speech pathologist about any ambiguities or requirements outside scope of role and responsibilities as defined by the organisation

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

2. Deliver therapeutic program under supervision of speech pathologist

2.1 Obtain consent from the individual client, or a third party where the individual is not in a position to provide this consent independently, before commencing the program

2.2 Confirm client/carer's understanding of requirements of the therapeutic program

2.3 Provide mealtime assistance to client, under instruction of speech pathologist, including the reinforcement of positioning and strategies to support safe swallowing and maximum level of independence of eating and drinking

2.4 Prepare texture modified foods and fluids as determined by the speech pathologist and in accordance with the food safety program of the organisation

2.5 Provide the client with relevant information and advice, as instructed by the speech pathologist, at a level and pace appropriate to the client's level of understanding, culture and background, preferred way of communication and need

2.6 Refer questions outside scope of role and responsibilities as defined by the organisation to speech pathologist and/or relevant member of health care team

2.7 Provide client with sufficient time, opportunity and encouragement to practise existing and newly developed skills

2.8 Provide set up and support of the client during assessment of swallowing, performed by speech pathologist

2.9 Carry out supplementary treatment programs as instructed by the speech pathologist

2.10 Identify adverse reactions/events associated with dysphagia and respond according to the detailed risk management framework

3. Monitor client's management

3.1 Work with the speech pathologist, care team and the individual to identify and record areas of positive progress and success and specific difficulties arising

3.2 Reinforce constructive feedback and advice provided by the care team about the client's approach and ability to manage their dysphagia

3.3 Support and encourage client to maintain and enhance their efforts to manage dysphagia

3.4 Reinforce the benefits of continuing to practice and develop skills and knowledge for dysphagia management

3.5 Identify adverse reactions and/or events associated with dysphagia and respond according to the detailed risk management framework

4. Comply with supervisory requirements

4.1 Refer to speech pathologist when additional input from health professional is required

4.2 Seek assistance when client presents with needs or signs outside limits of own authority, skills and/or knowledge

4.3 Report client difficulties to the supervising allied health professional for advice before continuing the program

4.4 Participate in supervision processes with the treating allied health professional in accordance with organisational protocol

5. Document client information

5.1 Use accepted protocols to document information relating to the treatment program in line with organisation requirements

5.2 Provide accurate and prompt feedback to the speech pathologist and client's care team to support future planning

5.3 Use appropriate terminology to document symptomatic expression of identified problems related to the therapeutic exercise program

Foundation Skills

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- delivered therapeutic support and skill development for 3 clients with dysphagia, 1 in a simulated environment and 2 in the workplace
- performed the activities outlined in the performance criteria of this unit during a period of at least 120 hours of work

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manages tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- secondary complications of dysphagia and an awareness of risk management protocols in response to adverse reactions/events
- basic anatomy and physiology of body systems pertaining to structures affecting eating and swallowing
- normal processes of eating and swallowing and changes to swallowing that occur over the lifespan
- organisation food safety program and procedures
- postures and positioning for safe swallowing
- techniques used in assessment of eating and swallowing, including:
  - bedside assessment

- video fluoroscopy
- disorders of eating and swallowing that may arise from:
  - acquired injury and disease
  - congenital abnormalities
  - degenerative disease
  - developmental delay
- legal and ethical considerations relevant to allied health:
  - duty of care
  - informed consent
  - work health and safety (WHS):
    - manual handling including identification and control of manual task risk factors

Assessment Conditions

All aspects of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using simulation prior to being demonstrated in a therapeutic workplace under the direction and supervision (direct, indirect, remote) as determined by the speech pathologist.

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including individualised plans and any relevant equipment outlined in the plan
- modelling of industry operating conditions and contingencies, including provision of services to real people

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages.  Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and environment requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- supported Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients and/or groups to identify, clarify and present their rights and needs on at least three occasions by:
  - using culturally safe and appropriate communication skills to work effectively with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients
  - identifying avenues for addressing each client's issues and/or concerns and/or improving services provided
  - supporting individual clients to express themselves in culturally appropriate and safe ways to service providers to access services
  - supporting individual clients to use their preferred language to communicate

- advocating on behalf of clients and/or community groups where they were unable to express individual or collective concerns.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

This includes knowledge of:

- organisational policies, guidelines and procedures and legislation or regulations relating to:
  - client confidentiality
  - referral, including various levels of urgency, and follow-up of client
  - mandatory reporting
  - notifiable communicable diseases
  - limits of own ability and authority

- language or languages, written and/or spoken, as required within the community and workplace
- medical terminology relevant to the workplace
- communication style and culture of the client, caregiver and health service provider.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working:

- in a health service or centre
- as part of, and under the supervision of, a multidisciplinary primary health care team

- with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients and communities.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment must be undertaken by a workplace assessor who has expertise in this unit of competency and who is:

- an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Worker
- or:
- accompanied by an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander person who is a recognised member of the community with experience in primary health care.

Release 2	Updated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• assessor requirements statement</li> <li>• foundation skills lead in statement</li> <li>• licensing statement</li> <li>• modification history to reflect 2012 standards</li> </ul> Equivalent outcome.
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 1.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and environment requirements. Pre-requisite unit removed.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- responded to loss, grief and trauma for at least three clients by:
  - developing culturally appropriate responses to situations of loss, grief and trauma
  - communicating effectively with clients. This includes:
    - building rapport
    - clarifying impact of loss
    - explaining support options
    - referring clients to specialist services
  - dealing with cross-cultural issues
  - recognising effects of stress on individuals and communities and implementing culturally appropriate strategies to manage stress

- monitoring own stress and using appropriate stress-management strategies, including consulting team members and professionals for own social and emotional support.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the identified work role.

This includes knowledge of:

- concepts of loss and grief
- nature and effects of psychological and spiritual trauma
- effects of trans-generational trauma and grief, colonisation and institutional racism on Aboriginal people
- cultural protocols and taboos
- specialist services for loss, grief and trauma
- statutory responsibilities including duty of care requirements
- narrative therapy approaches
- indicators of stress
- awareness of own values and attitudes around loss, grief and trauma
- organisational standards, policies and practices.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated working:

- in a health service or centre
- individually or as a member of a multidisciplinary primary health care team
- with Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander clients and communities.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment must be undertaken by a workplace assessor who has expertise in this unit of competency and who is:

an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Worker

or:

accompanied by an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander person who is a recognised member of the community with experience in primary health care.

HLTAID009 Provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in line with the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines.

This unit applies to all persons who may be required to provide CPR, in a range of situations, including community and workplace settings.

Specific licensing/regulatory requirements relating to this competency, including requirements for refresher training should be obtained from the relevant national/state/territory Work Health and Safety Regulatory Authorities.

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements describe the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1. Respond to an emergency situation.

- 1.1. Recognise and assess an emergency situation.
- 1.2. Ensure safety for self, bystanders and casualty.
- 1.3. Assess the casualty and recognise the need for cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).
- 1.4. Seek assistance from emergency services.

2. Perform CPR procedures.

- 2.1. Perform CPR in accordance with the ARC guidelines.
- 2.2. Display respectful behaviour towards casualty.
- 2.3. Operate an automated external defibrillator (AED) according to manufacturers' instructions.

3. Communicate details of the incident.

- 3.1. Accurately convey incident details to emergency services.
- 3.2. Report details of incident in line with appropriate workplace or site procedures.
- 3.3. Maintain privacy and confidentiality of information in line with statutory or organisational policies.

4. Review the incident.
- 4.1. Recognise the possible psychological impacts on self and other rescuers and seek help when required.
  - 4.2. Contribute to a review of the first aid response as required.

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Assessment Requirements for HLTAID009 Provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the workplace or community setting.

There must be evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks in line with State/Territory regulations, first aid codes of practice, first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies and workplace or site procedures:

- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, breathing casualty including appropriate positioning to reduce the risk of airway compromise
- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, non-breathing adult, including:
  - performing at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) (5 cycles of both compressions and ventilations) on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
  - following the prompts of an automated external defibrillator (AED) to deliver at least one shock
  - demonstrating a rotation of single rescuer operators with minimal interruptions to compressions
  - responding appropriately in the event of regurgitation or vomiting
  - handing over to emergency services
  - providing an accurate verbal report of the incident
  - reviewing the incident
- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, non-breathing infant, including:
  - performing at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer CPR (5 cycles both compressions and ventilations) on an infant resuscitation manikin placed on a firm surface.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- guidelines and procedures including:
  - relevant ARC guidelines to managing the unconscious breathing and non-breathing casualty and provision of CPR
  - potential incident hazards and risk minimisation processes when providing first aid

- infection control procedures, including use of standard precautions and resuscitation barrier devices
- requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
- first aid codes of practice
- appropriate workplace or site procedures relevant to the provision of first aid
- legal, workplace and community considerations, including:
  - duty of care requirements
  - own skills and limitations
  - consent and how it relates to the conscious and unconscious casualty
  - privacy and confidentiality requirements
  - awareness of potential need for stress management techniques and available support for rescuers
- considerations when providing CPR, including:
  - upper airway and effect of positional change
  - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
  - appropriate use of an AED
  - safety and maintenance procedures for an AED
  - chain of survival
  - how to access emergency services
- techniques for providing CPR to adults, children and infants including:
  - how to recognise that a casualty is unconscious and not breathing normally
  - rate, ratio and depth of compressions and ventilations
  - correct hand positioning for compressions
  - basic anatomy, physiology and the differences between adults, children and infants relating to CPR.

Assessment Conditions

Each candidate to demonstrate skills in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Due to the nature of this type of training, it is acceptable for the performance evidence to be collected in a simulated environment.

Compression and ventilation skills must be demonstrated on resuscitation manikins following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- adult and infant resuscitation manikins following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- AED training devices
- personal protective equipment (PPE).

Simulated assessment environments must simulate real-life situations where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that workplace or community environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors and must hold this unit or demonstrate equivalent skills and knowledge to that contained within this unit.

Release 1	HLTAID012 Provide First Aid in an education and care setting supersedes and is not equivalent to HLTAID004 Provide an emergency first aid response in an education and care setting

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide a first aid response to infants and children in line with first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies.

This unit applies to a range of workers within an education and care setting who are required to respond to a first aid emergency, including asthma and anaphylactic emergencies. This includes early childhood workers and educators who work with school age children in outside school hours care and vacation programs.

This unit of competency may contribute towards approved first aid, asthma and anaphylaxis training under the Education and Care Services National Law, and the Education and Care Services National Regulations (2011).

Specific licensing/regulatory requirements relating to this competency, including requirements for refresher training should be obtained from the relevant national/state/territory Work Health and Safety Regulatory Authorities

Elements describe the essential outcomes

1. Respond to an emergency situation.

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

  - ARC guidelines relevant to the provision of first aid to infants, children and adults
  - first aid guidelines from Australian national peak clinical bodies
  - potential incident hazards and risk minimisation processes when providing first aid
  - infection control procedures, including use of standard precautions and resuscitation barrier devices
  - requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
  - first aid codes of practice
  - appropriate workplace or site procedures relevant to the provision of first aid
  - contents of first aid kits
- legal, workplace and community considerations, including:

- first aid requirements for services under the Education and Care Services National Law
- State or Territory regulations covering first aid in an Education and Care setting
- duty of care requirements
- own skills and limitations
- consent, including situations in which parental or caregiver consent is required
- privacy and confidentiality requirements
- awareness of potential need for stress management techniques and available support for rescuers and children
- considerations when providing CPR, including:
  - upper airway and effect of positional change
  - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
  - appropriate use of an AED, including specific considerations when using an AED on children
  - safety and maintenance procedures for an AED
  - chain of survival
  - how to access emergency services
- techniques for providing CPR to adults, children and infants including:
  - how to recognise that a casualty is unconscious and not breathing normally
  - rate, ratio and depth of compressions and ventilations
  - correct hand positioning for compressions
  - basic anatomy, physiology and the differences between adults, children and infants relating to CPR
- signs, symptoms and management of the following in children and infants:
  - allergic reaction
  - anaphylaxis
  - asthma
  - non-life-threatening and life-threatening bleeding
  - breathing difficulties
  - burns
  - choking
  - diabetes
  - dehydration
  - drowning
  - envenomation - all current treatments
  - eye injuries
  - febrile convulsions
  - fever
  - fractures, dislocations, sprains and strains
  - head, neck and spinal injuries

- hypothermia
- hyperthermia
- minor wounds
- pain
- shock
- nose-bleed
- poisoning
- seizures
- vomiting and diarrhoea
- identification and management of a sick infant or child including:
  - general signs and symptoms of acute illness in children and infants
  - referral and advice services including recognition of signs or symptoms requiring immediate ambulance response
  - emergency action plans for known medical conditions including Asthma and Anaphylaxis
  - age appropriate communication and distraction techniques
  - first aider response to basic physiological differences in children.

Assessment Conditions

Each candidate to demonstrate skills in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, scenarios and simulations based on child and infant casualties to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Due to the nature of this type of training, it is acceptable for the performance evidence to be collected in a simulated environment.

Compression and ventilation skills must be demonstrated on resuscitation manikins, following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- emergency action plans
- adult, child and infant resuscitation manikins following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- adrenaline auto-injector training device
- AED training devices
- workplace first aid kit
- placebo bronchodilator and a spacer device
- different types of wound dressings and bandages
- blankets and items to treat for shock
- personal protective equipment (PPE)
- workplace injury, trauma and/or illness record, or other applicable workplace or site incident report form.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate real-life situations where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that workplace/community environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors and must hold this unit or demonstrate equivalent skills and knowledge to that contained within this unit.

HLTAID013 Provide First Aid in remote or isolated site

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide a first aid response to a casualty in a remote or isolated site over an extended period of time until medical assistance is provided, or evacuation occurs.

This unit applies to any site where medical assistance is likely to be delayed.

First aid is to be provided in line with guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies.

Specific licensing/regulatory requirements relating to this competency, including requirements for refresher training should be obtained from the relevant national/state/territory Work Health and Safety Regulatory Authorities.

Elements and Performance Criteria

3. Apply appropriate first aid procedures.
- 3.1. Perform single-rescuer or two-rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in accordance with the ARC guidelines and availability of rescuers.
- 3.2. Provide first aid in accordance with established first aid principles.
- 3.3. Display respectful behaviour towards casualty.
- 3.4. Obtain consent from casualty where possible.
- 3.5. Use available resources and equipment to make the casualty as comfortable as possible.
- 3.6. Operate first aid equipment according to manufacturers' instructions.
- 3.7. Monitor the casualty's condition and respond in accordance with first aid principles.
- 3.8. Assess need to evacuate casualty, ability to transport to medical assistance or need for external assistance.
- 3.9. Administer medication as required according to medical instructions.
4. Communicate details of the incident.
- 4.1. Accurately convey incident details to emergency services.
- 4.2. Report details of incident in line with appropriate workplace or site procedures.
- 4.3. Complete applicable workplace or site documentation, including incident report form.
- 4.4. Maintain privacy and confidentiality of records and information in line with applicable statutory or organisational policies.
5. Coordinate evacuation and first aid activities until assistance arrives.
- 5.1. Determine need, in consultation with external services, to evacuate casualty.
- 5.2. Provide accurate information about location of incident, number of casualties, their condition and their position to enable deployment of appropriate resources.
- 5.3. Continue to provide treatment using available resources until help arrives.
- 5.4. Prepare site for evacuation of patient.
- 5.5. On approach, assist emergency services to locate the site of the incident.
- 5.6. Follow instructions and provide assistance to emergency services personnel during evacuation.
6. Review the incident.
- 6.1. Recognise the possible psychological impacts on self and other rescuers and seek help when required.
- 6.2. Contribute to a review of the first aid response as required.

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Assessment Requirements for HLTAID013 Provide First Aid in remote or isolated site

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the workplace or community setting.

There must be evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks in line with State/Territory regulations, first aid codes of practice, first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) guidelines and workplace or site procedures:

- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, breathing casualty including appropriate positioning to reduce the risk of airway compromise
- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, non-breathing adult including:
  - performing at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) (5 cycles of both compressions and ventilations) on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
  - performing at least 2 minutes of ventilation and at least 2 minutes of compressions during a two-rescuer procedure on an adult resuscitation manikin placed on the floor
  - following the prompts of an automated external defibrillator (AED) to deliver at least one shock
  - responding appropriately in the event of regurgitation or vomiting
  - demonstrating a rotation of operators with minimal interruptions to compressions
- managed, in line with ARC guidelines, the unconscious, non-breathing infant, including:
  - performing at least 2 minutes of uninterrupted single rescuer CPR (5 cycles both compressions and ventilations) on an infant resuscitation manikin placed on a firm surface
- managed casualties, with the following:
  - anaphylaxis
  - asthma
  - non-life-threatening bleeding
  - choking
  - minor wound cleaning and dressing
  - nosebleed
  - shock
  - envenomation, using pressure immobilisation
  - fractures, dislocations, sprains and strains, using appropriate immobilisation techniques for remote situations and appropriate equipment improvisations

- head, neck and spinal injuries
- hypothermia and hyperthermia
- life threatening bleeding requiring use of tourniquets and haemostatic dressings
- responded to at least one simulated first aid incident contextualised to the candidate's workplace or community setting, where the candidate has no knowledge of the casualty's condition prior to starting treatment, including:
  - identifying the casualty's illness or injury through history, signs and symptoms
  - using personal protective equipment (PPE) as required
  - conducting a secondary survey assessment
  - assessing vital signs respirations, pulse, temperature
  - level of consciousness
  - providing appropriate first aid treatment
  - conveying incident details to emergency services or advising casualty on any required post incident action
  - providing an accurate verbal and written report of the incident
  - reviewing the incident
- conducted a basic triage for a multiple casualty incident.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- guidelines and procedures including:
  - ARC guidelines relevant to the provision of first aid
  - first aid guidelines from Australian national peak clinical bodies including those relevant to remote or isolated sites
  - potential incident hazards and risk minimisation processes when providing first aid
  - infection control procedures, including use of standard precautions and resuscitation barrier devices
  - requirements for currency of skill and knowledge
  - first aid codes of practice
  - appropriate workplace or site procedures relevant to the provision of first aid
  - contents of first aid kits
- legal, workplace and community considerations including:
  - duty of care requirements
  - own skills and limitations
  - consent and how it relates to the conscious and unconscious casualty
  - privacy and confidentiality requirements
  - awareness of potential need for stress management techniques and available support for rescuers
- in relation to the administration of medication

- legal requirements
- the five rights
- the responsibilities of the first aider
- considerations when providing CPR, including:
  - upper airway and effect of positional change
  - appropriate duration and cessation of CPR
  - appropriate use of an AED
  - safety and maintenance procedures for an AED
  - chain of survival
  - how to access emergency services
- techniques for providing CPR to adults, children and infants including:
  - how to recognise that a casualty is unconscious and not breathing normally
  - rate, ratio and depth of compressions and ventilations
  - correct hand positioning for compressions
  - basic anatomy, physiology and the differences between adults, children and infants relating to CPR
- signs, symptoms and management of the following conditions or injuries:
  - allergic reaction
  - anaphylaxis
  - asthma
  - non-life-threatening bleeding
  - burns
  - cardiac conditions, including chest pain
  - choking
  - diabetes
  - drowning
  - envenomation - all current treatments
  - eye injuries
  - fractures, dislocations, sprains and strains
  - head, neck and spinal injuries
  - hypothermia
  - hyperthermia
  - minor wounds
  - nose-bleed
  - poisoning
  - seizures
  - shock
  - sharps injuries
  - stroke
  - life threatening bleeding including use of tourniquets and haemostatic dressings

- considerations when providing first aid including:
  - assessment, interpretation and documentation of vital signs, including normal clinical values for respirations, temperature, pulse and level of consciousness
  - how to conduct a secondary assessment of a casualty
  - basic triage processes
  - ongoing care requirements of casualty beyond initial treatment
- remote considerations in the provision of first aid, including:
  - the nature of remote or isolated sites and how this may impact on first aid management
  - key features, functions and limitations of different types of emergency communication equipment used in remote or isolated sites, and factors that affect choice:
    - radio equipment
    - mobile phones
    - satellite phones
    - alerting and tracking devices including personal locator beacons (PLBs)
  - management options relating to transporting casualty, including aero-medical evacuation
  - specific considerations contextualised to alpine, desert, marine, rural or remote settings and tropical environments
  - methods used to assist emergency services to locate incident sites and the key features, functions and limitations of resources used to assist:
    - verbal directions
    - flags
    - flares or smoke
    - fires
  - use of man-made and natural resources to supplement first aid equipment
  - content of remote area first aid kits
  - content of remote area medication boxes
- psychological impacts of first aid incidents on rescuers and how to seek help.

Assessment Conditions

Each candidate to demonstrate skills in an environment that provides realistic in-depth, scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Scenarios must concentrate on the significance of remote or isolated site circumstances.

Due to the nature of this type of training, it is acceptable for the performance evidence to be collected in a simulated environment.

Compression and ventilation skills must be demonstrated on resuscitation manikins following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- adult and infant resuscitation manikin following ARC guidelines for the purpose of assessment of CPR procedures
- adrenaline auto-injector training device
- AED training devices
- placebo bronchodilator and spacer device
- haemostatic dressings
- haemostatic wound packing trainer
- thermometers
- tourniquets
- tourniquet trainer
- different types of wound dressings and bandages
- blankets and items to manage a casualty for shock
- personal protective equipment (PPE)
- workplace injury, trauma or illness record, or other appropriate workplace or site incident report form, which includes space for recording vital signs of casualties
- remote first aid kits
- immobilisation devices.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate real-life situations where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that workplace or community environment.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors and must hold this unit or demonstrate equivalent skills and knowledge to that contained within this unit.

HLTAID014 Provide Advanced First Aid

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide an advanced first aid response to a casualty in line with first aid guidelines determined by the Australian Resuscitation Council (ARC) and other Australian national peak clinical bodies.

The unit applies to all persons who may be required to provide an advanced first aid response in a range of situations, including community and workplace settings.

Specific licensing/regulatory requirements relating to this competency, including requirements for refresher training should be obtained from the relevant national/state/territory Work Health and Safety Regulatory Authorities.

Elements and Performance Criteria

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements describe the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1. Respond to an emergency situation.

- 1.1. Recognise and assess an emergency situation.
- 1.2. Ensure safety for self, bystanders and casualty.
- 1.3. Assess the casualty and recognise the need for first aid response.
- 1.4. Deploy resources to appropriate locations as required in line with appropriate workplace or site procedures.
- 1.5. Seek assistance from emergency services.

2. Apply appropriate first aid procedures.

- 2.1. Perform single-rescuer or two-rescuer cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in accordance with the ARC guidelines and availability of rescuers.
- 2.2. Provide first aid in accordance with established first aid principles.
- 2.3. Display respectful behaviour towards casualty.
- 2.4. Obtain consent from casualty where possible.
- 2.5. Use available resources and equipment to make the casualty as comfortable as possible.
- 2.6. Operate first aid and ancillary equipment according to manufacturers' instructions.

- 2.7. Monitor the casualty's condition and respond in accordance with first aid principles.
3. Coordinate first aid activities until arrival of medical assistance.
  - 3.1. Identify available resources required and establish communication links with appropriate personnel, emergency services or medical assistance as appropriate.
  - 3.2. Deploy required resources to appropriate locations in an efficient and effective manner to ensure timely treatment of casualties.
  - 3.3. Monitor the condition of casualties in accordance with first aid principles and workplace or site procedures.
  - 3.4. Coordinate evacuation of casualties according to relevant evacuation procedures.
4. Communicate details of the incident.
  - 4.1. Accurately convey incident details to emergency services.
  - 4.2. Report details of incident in line with appropriate workplace or site procedures.
  - 4.3. Complete applicable workplace or site documentation, including incident report form.
  - 4.4. Maintain privacy and confidentiality of information in line with statutory or organisational policies.
5. Review the incident.
  - 5.1. Recognise the possible psychological impacts on self and other rescuers and seek help when required.
  - 5.2. Arrange support services for personnel involved in the incident in accordance with relevant procedures.
  - 5.3. Contribute to a review of the first aid response as required.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to comply with personal hygiene, maintain food safety, contribute to cleanliness of food handling areas and dispose of food.

This unit applies to food services workers who work under supervision and within defined guidelines.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements define the essential outcomes.

1. Comply with personal hygiene standards as required by the food safety program

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1.1 Follow personal hygiene procedures
1.2 Report health conditions and/or illness and follow organisation procedures for continuing participation in food services

Assessment Requirements for HLTFS001 Follow basic food safety practices

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 3.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency requirements. Significant change to knowledge evidence. Supersedes HLTFS207C

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- identified at least 4 appropriate times for hand washing and followed correct hand washing procedures
- cleaned and tidied work areas at least 2 times to avoid contamination and pests
- identified at least 2 food items for disposal and followed food disposal procedures
- identified, corrected and reported at least 2 processes or practices that were not consistent with food safety program.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in the elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- food safety program and procedures and consequences of not following these procedures
- current national, state or territory food safety laws, standards and codes, including:
  - meaning of contaminant, contamination and potentially hazardous foods as defined by the current code
  - hygiene actions that must be adhered to by businesses to avoid food-borne illnesses

- employee responsibility to participate in hygienic practices
- reasons for food safety programs and what they must contain
- role of local government regulators
- basic aspects of hazard analysis and critical control points (HACCP) method of controlling food safety
- food hazards and major causes of food contamination and food-borne illnesses, including:
  - airborne dust
  - colleagues without appropriate training or understanding of good hygiene practices, policies and procedures
  - contaminated food
  - contaminated garbage
  - dirty equipment and utensils
  - equipment not working correctly, including fridge and temperature probes
  - items, including linen, tea towels and towels that may be contaminated with human waste, including blood and body secretions
  - not following organisation procedures
  - vermin
- sources and effects of microbiological contamination of food
- personal hygiene requirements, including:
  - appropriate bandages and dressings to be used when undertaking food handling
  - clothing and footwear requirements for working in and/or moving between food handling areas
  - reporting of illness
  - restrictions on wearing of jewellery and other adornments, such as nail polish
  - personal clothing maintenance, laundering and storage requirements
- workplace hygiene hazards when handling food and food contact surfaces, including:
  - pest containment requirements
  - responsibilities for maintaining the work area in a clean and tidy state
  - suitable standard for materials, equipment and utensils used in the food handling area
  - use and storage of cleaning equipment
  - food disposal requirements
  - waste collection, recycling and handling procedures
- minimum hand washing occasions:
  - before commencing or recommencing work with food

2.8 Prepare medications according to delegated role and in line with legal and environmental guidelines

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

3. Identify and prepare the client for administration of medication

3.1 Greet and identify client according to organisation procedures and prepare for medication administration

3.2 Check client medication according to organisation guidelines and the delegation from the health professional

3.3 Accurately explain the administration procedure to the client

3.4 Prior to the administration of medication, check the client for any physical or behavioural changes that may indicate the need to report to delegating health professional

4. Administer medications within legal parameters

4.1 Administer medications as delegated within role responsibility

4.2 Administer medications according to "rights of medication", specific requirements from the form prescribed and in accordance with defined legislation, organisation procedures, professional standards and prescriber's written instructions where available

4.3 Assist the client taking the medication as required and according to documented procedures and professional standards

4.4 Oversee and observe the client when taking medication and confirm ingestion or completion of administration

4.5 Dispose of all used and unused medication, containers, according to organisation procedures

4.6 Identify signs from client "when necessary" medications might be required, then inform delegating health practitioner and act in accordance with organisation's policies, procedures, delegation and role responsibility

4.7 Record administration of medications according to organisation policy

4.8 Provide accurate information to clients and carers on medication administration, including possible side effects

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

as per instructions of the delegating health professional

5. Monitor client response to administered medication

5.1 Identify possible acute and delayed adverse reactions to medications, respond within role responsibility and report to supervisor or health professional

5.2 Implement emergency response for identified acute and delayed adverse reactions within role responsibility

5.3 Record and report response to emergency strategies

5.4 Identify signs of a client experiencing pain and report to health professional

5.5 Observe and record client response to pain relieving medication and report to health professional

6. Handle medication contingencies

6.1 Report medication refusal or incomplete ingestion to supervising health professional according to organisation's procedures and protocols

6.2 Clearly identify contaminated or out of date medication and implement organisation's procedures for safe and appropriate disposal

6.3 Observe and record changes in the client's condition according to the organisation's guidelines and report to supervisor and health professional

6.4 Record and report any inconsistencies according to delegation and organisation guidelines and procedures

7. Complete medication distribution and administration

7.1 Manage medication equipment and used containers according to infection control guidelines

7.2 Complete arrangements and procedures to replenish dose administration aids and supplies

7.3 Store medication charts, care plans and treatment sheets according to the organisation's procedures

7.4 Complete medication storage procedures in compliance with legislation and own role responsibility

Elements define the essential outcomes

Assessment Requirements for HLTHPS007 Administer and monitor medications

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment, including volume and frequency requirements. Significant change to knowledge evidence.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- safely administered medication to at least 10 different people, including:
  - applied the rights of medication
  - consulted and confirmed actions with an authorised practitioner at all relevant times
  - determined medication requirements
  - understood and responded appropriately to orders and instructions for medication
- calculated medications with 100% accuracy and used the rights of medication and standard precautions to administer medication, using each of the following routes or methods:
  - oral
  - sublingual/buccal
  - dry powder inhalers
  - metered dose/spacer inhalers
  - nebulisers
  - topical medications
  - suppositories
  - sub-cutaneous injection using pre-loaded syringes or pens

- documented the administration of medication according to legislative requirements and organisation procedures and policies

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively do the task outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage the task and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- legislation, regulations, codes of practice, professional standards and workplace policies, including:
  - commonwealth and state/territory legislation concerning administration of medication, including the Drugs and Poisons Act
  - Disability Services Acts (commonwealth and state/territory)
  - Aged Care Act
  - duty of care
  - work health and safety
  - standard and additional precautions
- principles, practices and regulatory framework underpinning delegation and supervision, accountability and responsibility
- roles and responsibilities of those involved in assisting with medications and limitations of own role
- scheduled medications and interpretation of scheduling:
  - schedule 2
  - schedule 3
  - schedule 4
  - schedule 8
- forms of medication, and how they are handled, administered and stored, including:
  - capsules
  - drops
  - inhalants
  - liquid
  - lotion and cream
  - ointments
  - patches
  - powder
  - tablets
  - wafers
  - pessary
  - suppository
- basic pharmacology of medications, including:

- pharmacodynamics (biochemical and physiological effects of commonly used pharmacology on the body)
- pharmacokinetics (the action of commonly used pharmacology in the body over a period of time, including the processes of absorption) pharmacotherapeutics (therapeutic uses and effects of pharmacology used for common medical conditions)
- toxicology (adverse effects of chemicals on the organs of the body)
- key aspects of medication groups and categories and their general effect on body systems and major disorders, including:
  - central nervous system
  - musculo-skeletal system
  - peripheral nervous system
  - endocrine system
  - cardiovascular system
  - respiratory system
  - gastrointestinal system
  - renal/urinary system
  - reproductive systems
  - immune system
  - integumentary system
  - eye, ear and special senses
  - micro-organisms
  - neoplastic disease
- major factors that affect the action of drugs, including:
  - age
  - disease
  - processes
  - nutrition
  - hydration
- cross infection and prevention strategies including:
  - correct hand washing techniques
  - glove usage
  - awareness of how infection is spread
- procedures and legal requirements for different medication administration routes and consequences of incorrect use:
  - aural
  - insulin by sub-cutaneous injection using pre-loaded syringes or pens
  - intranasal
  - ocular
  - oral
  - rectal
  - topical (including transdermal)

- vaginal
- substance incompatibilities and contra-indications, including those related to:
  - warfarin and aspirin
  - medication and diet
  - medication and sunlight
  - infection
  - alcohol
- basic understanding of:
  - anaphylactic reactions
  - side effects
  - precautions
- characteristics of at least twenty commonly used medications in the area of work, including prescribed and over the counter medications:
  - purpose
  - expected effects and potential reactions, including anaphylactic reactions
  - contraindications for use
  - consequences of incorrect use
  - storage requirements
  - disposal requirements
- documentation requirements for medication administration:
  - purpose
  - potential impacts of errors and reasons for error
  - medication charts, their role and procedures for use

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations has not been provided in the workplace. The following aspects of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using simulation prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public and where state/territory legislation prevents this practice in the workplace:

- calculated medications with 100% accuracy and used the rights of medication and standard precautions to administer medication

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including:
  - placebo medication, administration equipment, charts and documentation
  - individualised plans
  - workplace policies and procedures

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

In addition, assessors must be a registered nurse or registered enrolled nurse or registered Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health practitioner.

HLTHPS010 Interpret and use information about nutrition and diet

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. New unit.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to interpret and use basic information about nutritional principles and healthy diet. It does not include the provision of therapeutic nutritional or dietary advice to individual clients or the recommendation of ‘practitioner only’ nutritional products.

This unit applies to individuals working with clients within the limits of the Australian dietary guidelines. They make referrals to other health professionals or accredited practising dietitians when those limits are exceeded.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

1. Access nutritional and dietary information

1.1 Establish credible sources of information about nutrition and diet

1.2 Access and interpret current dietary guidelines for healthy Australians and nutritional information that support self-care

Elements define the essential outcomes

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

	1.3 Extract and distil information relevant to own practice
2. Use information about diet and nutrition	2.1 Determine situations where nutrition and diet may play a role for individual clients 2.2 Integrate knowledge of basic nutrition and diet into service provision 2.3 Promote healthy diet and nutrition to others based on the Australian dietary guidelines 2.4 Provide information on lifestyle, self-care practices and specialist services related to diet and nutrition 2.5 Identify situations where referral to a health care professional is required and take action accordingly
3. Maintain own knowledge of nutrition	3.1 Identify and use opportunities to update nutritional knowledge 3.2 Monitor current issues and trends in nutrition and diet 3.3 Evaluate potential changes in own work based on updated knowledge

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Unit Mapping Information

No equivalent unit.

Assessment Requirements for HLTHPS010 Interpret and use information about nutrition and diet

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. New unit.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- used critical thinking skills to review and distil information about nutrition and diet
- used information about nutrition and diet within the scope of own job role in the provision of services to at least 3 different people

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- legal and ethical requirements in relation to the provision of nutritional and diet information to clients:
  - roles, responsibilities and limitations of different people
  - conflicts of interest and ethical considerations
- source of information about nutrition and diet and ways to assess their credibility
- established evidence-based sources of information about nutrition and diet
- anatomy and physiology relating to diet, including:
  - structure of the digestive system
  - role of metabolism
  - digestive processes and activities, including:
    - ingestion
    - mechanical digestion

- propulsion
- chemical digestion
- absorption
- defecation
- primary components of Australian dietary guidelines, including those for older Australians, children and adolescents.
- foods and their key features as described in the Australian dietary guidelines, including diet related aspects of chronic disease:
  - diabetes
  - cardiovascular
  - obesity/eating disorders
- basic principles and practices of nutrition and healthy diet, including nutrients, their function, recommended dietary intake (RDI), toxicity and their food sources
- benefits of antioxidants, and food groups that provide good sources
- influences on food choices for individuals
- food labelling and interpretation
- role and implications of using food additives and preservatives
- health implications of food choices
- role of good nutrition in avoiding dietary diseases
- effects of various processing and cooking methods and food storage on nutrients
- commonly encountered food intolerances
- main types and characteristics of special diets that are part of contemporary Australian society:
  - diabetic
  - coeliac/gluten free/low gluten
  - low cholesterol
  - low fat
  - sugar free
  - vegetarian
  - vegan
  - diets specific to different cultures and religions
- the meaning of:
  - drug–food interactions
  - food allergy
  - food intolerance
  - alkaline and acidity charts
- indicators of need for referral to specialist advice

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. Where simulation is used, it must reflect real working conditions by modelling industry operating conditions and contingencies, as well as using suitable facilities, equipment and resources.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

  - 1.7 Follow procedures for disposal of contaminated waste
  - 1.8 Follow procedures for handling and cleaning client equipment that prevents skin and mucous membrane exposures, contamination of clothing, and transfer of pathogens
  - 1.9 Identify and respond to situations where additional precautions may be required to prevent transmission of infection
2. Identify infection hazards and assess risks
    - 2.1 Identify infection hazards associated with own role and work environment
    - 2.2 Identify own areas of responsibility in relation to infection prevention and control
    - 2.3 Assess risk by determining the likelihood and severity of harm from identified hazards.
    - 2.4 Document and report activities and tasks that put self, clients, visitors and/or other workers at risk
    - 2.5 Identify appropriate control measures to minimise risk in accordance with organisations procedures
3. Follow procedures for managing risks associated with specific hazards
    - 3.1 Follow protocols for care after exposure to blood or other body fluids as required
    - 3.2 Place appropriate signs when and where appropriate
    - 3.3 Remove spills in accordance with the policies and procedures of the organisation
    - 3.4 Minimise contamination of materials, equipment and instruments by aerosols and splatter

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- followed established organisation infection prevention and control procedures on at least 3 separate occasions
- followed established organisation infection prevention and control procedures at least once for each of the following:
  - hand hygiene and care of hand
  - use of personal protective equipment
  - handling of waste
  - enforcing clean and contaminated zones
  - limitation of contamination
  - surface cleaning

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- established guidelines for the prevention and control of infection, including those for:
  - personal and hand hygiene:
    - how to hand wash
    - how to hand rub

- pre-surgical hand preparation
- clinical moments when hand hygiene should be performed with soap and water rather than alcohol-based hand rub
- non-clinical moments for hand hygiene hand care, including guidelines on maintaining intact skin, fingernails and jewellery/watches
- use and scope of personal protective equipment guidelines for:
  - glove use
  - wearing gowns and waterproof aprons
  - wearing masks
  - wearing protective glasses
- surface cleaning:
  - cleaning procedures and their specified times
  - routine surface cleaning
- managing a blood or body fluid spill
- sharps handling and disposal techniques
- reprocessing procedures for equipment
- types of additional precautions and their relevance to particular areas of work or client groups
- types of hazards in the work environment and associated risks and control measures
- chain of infection:
  - source of infectious agent
  - mode of transmission
  - susceptible host
- basis of infection, including:
  - bacteria and bacterial spores
  - difference between harmless microorganisms and pathogens
  - difference between colonisation, infection and disease
  - fungi
  - viruses
- key modes of disease transmission – contact, airborne and droplet:
  - paths of transmission including direct contact, aerosols and penetrating injuries
  - risk of acquisition
  - sources of infecting microorganisms including persons who are carriers, in the incubation phase of the disease or those who are acutely ill
- factors that increase the susceptibility to infection:
  - immune status
  - wounds or devices
  - medications and comorbidities
  - age

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations have not been provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following conditions must be met for this unit:

- use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including:
  - organisational infection prevention and control guidelines
  - personal protective equipment
  - hand hygiene facilities and equipment
  - medical or client care equipment relevant to the workplace
  - clinical and other waste and waste disposal equipment
  - areas for cleaning
  - equipment for cleaning, including sterilised sharps if relevant to role
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including integration of problem solving activities to which the candidate responds

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Requirements for HLTINF006 Apply basic principles and practices of infection prevention and control

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- implement precautions for infection prevention and control according to national standards and guidelines on three different occasions, each responding to a different identified infection risk, including:
  - carrying out hand hygiene procedures as relevant to the infection risk
  - selecting and using correct Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)
  - using correct cleaning and waste management procedures
- respond to three instances of exposure to infection risk, including:
  - at least one instance that involves management of exposure to blood or body fluids
  - documenting and reporting the incident and response
  - identifying and managing clean and contaminated zones.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- established national standards and guidelines for the prevention and control of infection
- types of infectious risks in the work environment and associated management to prevent and reduce harm
- causes of infection, including:
  - classifications of microorganisms – bacteria, viruses, fungi, parasites
  - process of colonisation, infection and disease
- transmission of infectious agents as per the chain of infection including:
  - infectious agent:
    - degree of pathogen exposure
  - reservoir:
    - people, animals and birds
    - other vectors
    - blood and body fluids
    - food, water and soil
    - waste

- portal of exit
- transmission:
  - direct contact including contact, droplet and airborne
  - indirect contact including surface or object contamination, penetrating injuries and vectors (animal, insect or parasite)
- portal of entry
- susceptible hosts:
  - factors that increase susceptibility to infection
- personal hygiene practices:
  - personal care and cleanliness
  - use of clean clothing or uniform
  - management and laundering of work clothing
  - not attending work when ill
  - safe respiratory and cough etiquette
- principles of hand hygiene:
  - hand care, including guidelines on maintaining intact skin, fingernails and jewellery or watches
  - hand hygiene procedures:
    - identifying when hand hygiene is required
    - identifying correct hand hygiene product
    - hand hygiene technique
    - procedure for applying alcohol-based hand rub
    - when to perform hand hygiene with soap and water rather than alcohol-based hand rub
    - precautions where there are breaks in the skin or skin conditions
  - 5 moments of hand hygiene
- safe and effective use of different types and grades of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) including:
  - masks
  - gloves
  - protective eyewear and face shields
  - gowns and aprons
  - techniques and sequence for applying, fitting and removing PPE
  - preventing contamination while applying, wearing and removing PPE
  - safe disposal of PPE after use
- cleaning procedures:
  - routine environment and equipment cleaning
  - enhanced cleaning
  - reprocessing of reusable equipment or instruments
  - managing a blood or body fluid spill

- management of linen and clothing
- principles of asepsis relevant to the job role
- waste management procedures:
  - disposal of general waste
  - safe handling and disposal of contaminated waste
  - safe handling and disposal of sharps
- organisational policies and procedures for:
  - managing exposure incidents
  - recording and documenting risks and incidents
  - reporting risks and incidents
  - parties to whom reports may be made:
    - supervisor
    - general practitioner
    - health care professional
    - carer
    - responsible person
    - responsible authority.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the work setting with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the work setting or may occur only rarely.

Assessment must ensure use of suitable facilities, equipment and resources, including:

- national standards and guidelines for infection prevention and control and hand hygiene
- relevant Commonwealth state or territory legislation and industry frameworks
- hand hygiene facilities and equipment
- personal protective equipment
- waste and waste disposal equipment
- areas, equipment and supplies for cleaning
- organisational policies and procedures.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.

HLTOHC001 Recognise and respond to oral health issues

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to identify variations and recognise oral health issues through a visual check, observation of patient behaviour and habits, signs and symptoms and physical condition of patients. This enables the candidate to respond appropriately to the clinical findings to initiate follow up oral health care.

This unit applies to workers in a range of health and community services environments where their work role requires them to recognise and respond to oral health issues.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian/New Zealand standards for maintaining infection control, and industry codes of practice.

Elements and Performance Criteria

and family/or carer to determine whether the patient is experiencing pain or discomfort that may be associated with oral health issues

1.3 Access relevant information on contributing factors that may produce variation from normal behaviour

2. Undertake basic visual oral check and questioning

2.1 Obtain consent from the patient to conduct basic visual oral check and questioning from patient and/or family/carer

2.2 Ensure comfort of patient by developing trust and rapport, adapting environment and optimal time based on patient needs

2.3 Provide support for patient's head or chin if necessary to enhance visual access without creating discomfort for the patient

2.4 Seek assistance from patient to open their own mouth to limit hand contact inside the mouth

2.5 Prepare and perform basic visual oral checks in line with own work role and use of standard precautions

2.6 Identify signs and symptoms of oral health issues that may indicate variation from normal and actively listen to and be aware of self-reports

3. Follow up and promote ongoing oral health care

3.1 Complete documentation and reporting processes, using information from patient, and/or family/carer or other relevant people as well as own observations in relation to oral health issues

3.2 Discuss oral health issues with patient and/or carer in line with organisation policies and procedures and respecting patient priorities and choices

3.3 Take appropriate action within work role, including liaising with supervisor in consultation with patient to ensure appropriate referral occurs

3.4 Use appropriate communication strategies to provide information relevant to promoting and maintaining good oral health

ELEMENT

Assessment Requirements for HLTOHC001 Recognise and respond to oral health issues

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- performed a visual oral health check on 5 patients, including:
  - identified any signs and symptoms related to oral health care issues
  - gathered relevant information from visual check and questioning to initiate appropriate follow up oral health care
  - used appropriate manual handling techniques when working with patients with special care needs or mental health condition

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- basic anatomy and physiology underpinning oral health, including what is considered healthy and unhealthy
- patient behaviour and habits which contribute to oral health issues
- causes and prevention of tooth decay, gum disease and tooth wear, including erosion, abrasion and attrition.
- effective self-care practices for oral health including cause, control and prevention of dental plaque

- state/territory and national government policy and programs and reporting processes for oral health
- accessibility to services, including availability of private and public oral health services, including eligibility for services
- role of oral health professionals
- factors that impact on oral health, including:
  - abuse (neglect of oral health needs)
  - access to dental and health services
  - alcohol, licit and illicit drugs and substances, over the counter and herbal treatments
  - correct infant feeding practices
  - damage from habitual grinding of teeth
  - diet and nutrition, including fluids and excessive intake of sugar
  - fluoride
  - general health and wellbeing
  - immunosuppressant conditions, HIV, chemotherapy and radiation
  - injury to mouth, such as from a seizure
  - medical history
  - oral piercings
  - patient oral health information
  - presence of plaque and calculus
  - psychological issues, such as fear of being seen without dentures or persisting with ill-fitting dentures for satisfaction of others
  - salivary function
  - smoking
  - social and cultural determinants of health
  - susceptible tooth surfaces
  - transmission of bacteria particularly from family/carer to child
  - teeth misalignment causing trauma to teeth
  - trauma to mouth as a result of an accident
- healthy eating recommendations as identified in the National health and medical research council's (NHMRC) Australian dietary guidelines

Assessment Conditions

Skills and knowledge must be demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following aspect of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using 10 simulation scenarios prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public:

- performing a visual oral health check

The following conditions must be met for this unit

- use of suitable equipment and resources, including:
  - appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - Dental board of Australia – dental guidelines on infection control on which the candidate bases the planning process
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including access to people for the simulated scenarios

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide practical information and instruction to patients and groups to promote and support good oral health care practices. The skills and knowledge will enable the candidate to provide health promotion and practical demonstration and instruction of oral hygiene practices and techniques.

This unit applies to workers in a range of health and community services environments whose work roles provide them with an opportunity to promote and support good oral health care.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

Elements define the essential outcomes.

1. Develop and maintain understanding of oral health

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

1.1 Build on understanding of what constitutes good oral health information and issues

1.2 Maintain current knowledge on the risk factors and outcomes associated with poor oral health and hygiene practices

1.3 Identify oral health hygiene techniques used to address specific patient needs and preferences

1.4 Demonstrate own commitment to oral health through awareness and application of effective self-care oral health practices

1.5 Recognise social and cultural determinants of health as well as varying individual motivations and capacity to carry out good oral health care practices

2. Provide information related to oral health using a person-centred approach

2.1 Address agreed outcomes in planning for oral health care needs by explaining the link between oral health and general health

2.2 Prepare information so that it is relevant to the target audience and use a person-centred approach to identify and respond effectively to individual needs

2.3 Engage and respond to concerns of patient by providing oral health care information, including issues associated with poor oral health and hygiene

2.4 Negotiate with patient a flexible approach to delivery of oral health information

2.5 Explain relevant information on the importance of regular oral checks with an oral health practitioner

3. Provide specific information and instruction on oral hygiene self-care techniques and appropriate aids

3.1 Collect data specific to patient by questioning, observing and accessing available information from patient and/or carer

3.2 Instruct and explain tooth brushing and soft tissue techniques and use of appropriate aids, explain their advantages in terms of achieving and maintaining effective oral health

3.3 Demonstrate and provide instruction on the care of partial and full dentures

3.4 Identify opportunities for participants to demonstrate

HLTOHC004 Provide or assist with oral hygiene

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Minimal changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required to provide or assist a patient with their oral hygiene where the patient is unable to perform all or part of these tasks by themselves. The oral hygiene tasks for the patient are carried out within the framework of an individualised care support plan and within the workers designated role and responsibilities.

This unit applies to workers who provide direct patient care in a range of health and community services environments.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT

Elements define the essential outcomes

1. Identify patient's oral hygiene requirements to ensure good oral health

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element

1.1 Liaise with supervisor to confirm individualised care plan supports requirements to address patient's oral hygiene needs using a person-centred approach

1.2 Work effectively with patients from a diverse range of backgrounds to meet individual preferences in relation to provision of support or assistance with oral hygiene

1.3 Discuss and confirm the patient's level of participation in meeting their own oral hygiene preferences and provide information to the patient and/or carer as required

1.4 Confirm oral hygiene requirements are within scope of own knowledge, skills and work role and seek appropriate assistance where patient requirements are outside scope

1.5 Take into account and address impacts that provision of oral hygiene may have on the patient and address any situations of risk associated with the provision of support and confirm actions with supervisor

1.6 Update knowledge to identify appropriate oral hygiene products, processes and aids for providing assistance and promoting independence in line with the patient's individualised care support plan

2. Assist and support patients in an appropriate manner

2.1 Provide oral hygiene support or assistance in an appropriate environment

2.2 Use effective communication, appropriate body language and a caring attitude to facilitate patient understanding of, and comfort with, oral hygiene processes taking place

2.3 Clarify and address difficulties in providing support, including patient behavioural responses with patient and supervisor within organisation protocols

2.4 Adapt techniques or arrangements in case of patient refusal or inability to comply as recommended in the individualised care support plan

2.5 Recognise signs that indicate an oral health problem, including distress or behaviours of concern, especially in patients unable to articulate their symptoms or concerns

2.6 Develop trust, rapport and respect with the patient and work in an appropriate environment to maintain dignity at an optimal time.

2.7 Ensure patient is in a position which provides visual access to the mouth seeking their assistance to open their own mouth to minimise contact with the mouth and use appropriate infection control procedures

2.8 Provide support for patient's head or chin to enhance visual access without creating discomfort for the patient

3. Assist and support patients in

3.1 Prepare oral hygiene products and aids for use with their identified oral hygiene needs teeth and soft tissue or dentures in an appropriate, safe and patient preferred manner

3.2 Inform patient and/or carer of oral hygiene processes to take place and incorporate toothbrush care

3.3 Provide and record individualised care support or assistance with oral hygiene tasks with consideration of identified patient preferences or risks

3.4 Where appropriate encourage patient to wear, insert and remove own dentures in line with care plan and support and assist patients with care of dentures

3.5 Update knowledge of techniques to improve oral hygiene practices and modified oral hygiene methods and aids

4. Recognise and report changes in patient oral hygiene requirements

4.1 Regularly review and document oral hygiene techniques being used to ensure oral health is maintained according to the oral health care plan

4.2 Identify variations in oral hygiene support requirements and report to supervisor any concerns to arise during patient contact

4.3 Consult with patient and supervisor to identify required changes to procedures and oral health products and aids

4.4 Maintain and file documentation using relevant technology

- principles and practices of confidentiality, privacy, respect and dignity
- processes and strategies to support people with, and provide, oral hygiene care needs
- role of carers and substitute decision makers in relation to oral hygiene decisions and support
- roles of oral health practitioners
- significance of service setting, including specific contexts of supporting oral hygiene care needs in a patient care setting and in a patient's private home
- signs and symptoms of an allergic reaction
- the interaction between oral health and general health
- oral hygiene products and aids for teeth and soft tissue may include:
  - alcohol-free mouthwash directed by an oral health practitioner as part of an oral health care plan
  - fluoride toothpaste
  - interdental brushes
  - manual and electric toothbrushes
  - modified toothbrushes
  - mouth props (if trained in their use)
  - saliva substitutes
  - soft toothbrush suitable for bending
  - specialised aids
  - sprays
  - sugar-free gums
  - tongue scraper
  - tooth remineralising agent
- oral hygiene products and aids for dentures may include:
  - denture adhesive
  - denture brush
  - denture disinfection product
  - denture labelling kit
  - denture soaking products
  - denture-friendly cleaner
  - named denture storage container (disposable or non-disposable)
- techniques to improve oral hygiene practices may include:
  - bridging:

- engages patients senses of sight, sound and touch by mimicking brushing of own teeth to provide physical prompt
- place brightly coloured toothbrush in patient's preferred hand to mirror behaviour
- chaining:
  - bring patients hand and toothbrush to their mouth, describing activity and encouraging the patient to continue unaided
- hand over hand:
  - using a hand over patient's hand to start brushing patient's teeth in unison
- distraction:
  - use of a familiar item, such as towel, cushion or activity board, in patient's hand while brushing their teeth
- rescuing:
  - attempts at oral hygiene are not successful and assistance is required
- modified oral hygiene methods and aids, may include:
  - appropriate alcohol-free mouthwash and gel
  - backward bent toothbrush, or similar implement to retract cheek while brushing with another toothbrush
  - bite block
  - end tufted brush
  - flossers
  - hand grip on toothbrush for patients with reduced grip strength
  - high fluoride toothpaste applied onto teeth instead of brushing as a short term alternative only
  - mouth props for patients who clench or bite or who have difficulty opening mouth (specific training required)
  - mouth spray
  - mouth swabs
  - saliva substitute
  - suction swabs
  - tongue scraper and/or brush

Assessment Conditions

Skills and knowledge must be demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following aspect of the performance evidence for the provision of oral hygiene must have been demonstrated using 10 simulations scenarios covering a range of different people and complexities prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public:

- performed effective oral hygiene practices

The following conditions must be met for this unit

- use of suitable equipment and resources, including:
  - age related oral health care resources
  - appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - Dental board of Australia – dental guidelines on infection control, on which the planning process is based
  - oral hygiene placebo products and aids for teeth and soft tissue
  - oral hygiene products and aids for dentures or oral hygiene self-care aids
- modelling of industry operating conditions, including access to people for the simulated scenarios

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

select most suitable tools and approach

1.4 Comply with directions of screening tool instructions, guidelines and/or training approved by the oral health sector

1.5 Use screening tool to question patients about their oral health and take into account specific individual issues

1.6 Demonstrate an understanding of existing health conditions and impacts on oral health

2. Follow screening tool questioning, observation and recording requirements

2.1 Record and document observations about patient's oral health in appropriate format according to tool and organisation guidelines

2.2 Consult with other health personnel where necessary to confirm or clarify screening results, and record processes and outcomes

2.3 Interpret findings based on screening results and report results to health practitioner or oral health team

2.4 Document reporting processes, use information from patient and/or carer and own observations

3. Review screening process and referral outcomes

3.1 Address identified needs for oral health education and/or assessment in consultation with others and refer where necessary

3.2 Where appropriate, discuss with patients and other relevant stakeholders any issues or obstacles relating to referrals made

3.3 Where screening was unsuccessful report and follow up appropriately

3.4 Clarify screening effectiveness by obtaining feedback from patients and other relevant stakeholders and identify any issues in own use of screening tool/s

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once:

- communicated effectively with 5 patients to establish a relationship of trust to provide oral health information, including gaining patient's understanding of how the oral health screening tools are used
- used relevant endorsed oral health screening tool/s and techniques on 5 different patients, including:
  - interpreting and reporting results
  - documentation of findings
  - referral of patients as required

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- how to use the relevant endorsed oral health screening tool/s and techniques including:
  - preparation of screening tools
  - communication strategies to aid in screening instrument questioning
  - evaluation of tool effectiveness

- follow-up on unsuccessful screening
- oral health screening instruments and ways to respond to the results, including:
  - referral pathways and processes
  - screening tools, procedures and associated rationale for use
  - workplace policies, procedures and programs for screening
- relevant state/territory and national government policy, programs and reporting processes for oral health

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. Where simulation is used, it must reflect real working conditions by modelling industry operating conditions and contingencies, as well as, using suitable facilities, equipment and resources.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Removed pre-requisite. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Application

This unit describes the skills and knowledge required by practitioners working specifically in rural, remote and isolated areas and/or facilities that have knowledge and experience in oral health care, to apply fluoride varnish in line with prescribed treatment as outlined in an individualised oral health care plan and in accordance with relevant jurisdictional, legislative and regulatory requirements.

The unit applies to registered Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander health practitioners, registered nurses and registered enrolled nurses in primary health care settings in rural, remote and isolated areas where the work roles may require the application of fluoride varnish.

Elements and Performance Criteria

oral health care plan

1.2 Confirm the patient's oral health care plan, developed by an oral health practitioner, specifically includes the application of fluoride varnish and that there are no contraindications to this procedure

1.3 Confirm consent

1.4 Explain fluoride varnish application procedure to patient and/or family/carer and check their understanding of the benefits of fluoride varnish, need for regular applications, and the risks associated with fluoride varnish

1.5 Explain the advantages and disadvantages of fluoride varnish over other procedures

1.6 Prepare fluoride varnish kit and personal protective equipment (PPE) as required

2. Apply fluoride varnish to teeth

2.1 Position the patient for safety and comfort

2.2 Use PPE in accordance with infection control policies and procedures throughout procedure

2.3 Prepare teeth for fluoride varnish application in accordance with product instructions and application protocols

2.4 Dispense appropriate amount of fluoride varnish

2.5 Apply fluoride varnish in correct manner with applicator to teeth as recommended in the oral health care plan

3. Provide information to patient and/or family/carer about post-application advice and follow up requirements

3.1 Advise patient and/or family/carer of the importance of following instructions and recommended guidelines for eating, drinking fluids and brushing/cleaning teeth following fluoride varnish application

3.2 Inform patient and/or family/carer of any expected short term changes in tooth appearance or sensation, including colour, feel or taste

3.3 Provide post-application information to patient and/or family/carer in both verbal and written or picture formats

Assessment Requirements for HLTOHC006 Apply fluoride varnish

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. Removed pre-requisite. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- applied fluoride varnish safely and effectively to 5 people in line with product guidelines, jurisdictional legislation and regulation relating to fluoride schedule, supply, authorisation and disposal, including:
  - prepared self and the client using personal protective equipment against risks associated with the use of fluoride varnish
  - identified and responded to risks associated with applying fluoride varnish
  - evaluated own capabilities in the application of fluoride varnish skills

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- fluoride varnish refers to:
  - a highly concentrated form of fluoride which is applied to tooth's surface as a type of topical fluoride therapy. may be applied to enamel, dentine or cementum of tooth and can be used to help prevent decay, remineralise tooth surface and treat dentine hypersensitivity
  - not permanent varnish but due to adherent nature will stay in contact with tooth surface for several hours

- accessibility to services, including availability of private and public oral health services and eligibility for services
- awareness of relevant jurisdictional legislation and regulation relating to fluoride, including schedule, supply, authorisation and disposal
- application of fluoride varnish in the correct manner refers to:
  - keeping client mouth open
  - maintaining moisture control
  - retracting lip and cheek, wiping and applying a thin layer of varnish to the teeth as prescribed in the oral health care plan
  - ensuring varnish is applied without contact with other tissues
  - never dispensing product in excess to that stated in the oral health care plan
- how to reflect on own level of knowledge to achieve desirable outcomes and maintain own capabilities
- awareness of risks associated with fluoride varnish
- basic anatomy and physiology underpinning oral health and hygiene
- causes and prevention of common dental diseases especially dental caries
- common equipment utilised in the application of fluoride
- effective self-care practices for oral health, including cause, control and prevention of dental plaque
- emergency procedures that may be required during the application of fluoride varnish
- factors that impact on oral health, including:
  - abuse (neglect of oral health needs)
  - access to dental and health services
  - alcohol, licit and illicit drugs and substances over the counter and herbal treatments
  - bacteria in dental plaque
  - correct infant feeding practices
  - damage from habitual grinding of teeth
  - diet and nutrition, including fluids and excessive intake of sugar
  - fluoride
  - general health and wellbeing
  - immunosuppressant conditions, HIV, chemotherapy and radiation
  - injury to mouth, such as from a seizure
  - medical history
  - oral piercings
  - patient oral health information
  - presence of plaque and calculus
  - psychological issues, such as fear of being seen without dentures or persisting with ill-fitting dentures for satisfaction of others
  - salivary function
  - smoking
  - social and cultural determinants of health

- susceptible tooth surfaces
- transmission of bacteria particularly from family/carer to child
- teeth misalignment causing trauma to teeth
- trauma to the mouth as a result of an accident
- work health and safety (WHS) issues and procedures, including those related to manual handling of fluoride varnish and personal safety and security risks associated with provision of fluoride varnish application
- own work role and responsibilities in the application of fluoride varnish
- principles and practices of confidentiality, privacy and consent of fluoride treatment
- evaluation criteria for monitoring effectiveness of fluoride varnish application program
- role of significant others in supporting patient's oral health care needs
- safe application of fluoride varnish
- safe storage of products
- relationship between oral health and general health

Assessment Conditions

Skills and knowledge must be demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following aspect of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using simulation prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public

- apply fluoride varnish safely and effectively

Note: Where state/territory legislation prevents practice in the workplace, simulated assessment environments may only be used in place of workplace assessment.

The following conditions must be met for this unit

- use of suitable equipment and resources, including:
  - appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - oral hygiene self-care aids and technique
  - placebo fluoride varnish
  - specialised equipment utilised in the application of fluoride varnish
  - modelling of industry operating conditions, including access to people for the simulated scenarios

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Release 1	HLTOHC007 Recognise and respond to oral health issues supersedes and is not equivalent to HLTOHC001 Recognise and respond to oral health issues.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to identify variations and recognise oral health issues through a visual check, observation of patient behaviour and habits, signs and symptoms and physical condition of patients. This enables the candidate to respond appropriately to the clinical findings to initiate follow up oral health care.

This unit applies to workers in a range of health and community services environments where their work role requires them to recognise and respond to oral health issues.

The skills in this unit must be applied in accordance with Commonwealth and State/Territory legislation, Australian standards and industry codes of practice.

No occupational licensing, certification or specific legislative requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- perform a visual oral health check on five different patients, including:
  - identifying any signs and symptoms related to oral health care issues
  - gathering relevant information from visual check and questioning to initiate appropriate follow up oral health care
  - using safe manual handling techniques as required when working with patients with special care needs.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- basic anatomy and physiology underpinning oral health, including what is considered healthy and unhealthy
- patient behaviour and habits which contribute to oral health issues
- causes and prevention of tooth decay, gum disease and tooth wear, including erosion, abrasion and attrition
- effective self-care practices for oral health including cause, control and prevention of dental plaque

- State or Territory and national government policy and programs and reporting processes for oral health accessibility to services, including availability of private and public oral health services, including eligibility for services.
- role of oral health professionals
- factors that impact on oral health, including:
  - abuse including neglect of oral health needs
  - access to dental and health services
  - alcohol, licit and illicit drugs and substances, over the counter and herbal treatments
  - correct infant feeding practices
  - damage from habitual grinding of teeth

  - susceptible tooth surfaces
  - transmission of bacteria particularly from family or carer to child
  - teeth misalignment causing trauma to teeth
  - trauma to mouth as a result of an accident
- communication strategies that focus on patient needs including mental health and disabilities
- safe manual handling techniques
- organisational policies and procedures for:
  - patient privacy
  - confidentiality of patient information and disclosure
  - documentation and reporting
- healthy eating recommendations as identified in the National Health and Medical Research Council's (NHMRC) Australian dietary guidelines.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace with the addition of simulations and scenarios where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely.

The following aspect of the performance evidence must have been demonstrated using ten simulation scenarios prior to demonstration in the workplace or with members of the general public:

- performing a visual oral health check

Assessment must ensure:

- access to suitable equipment and resources, including:
  - appropriate personal protective equipment (PPE)
- access to current Dental board of Australia (DBA) and Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) guidelines and practice standards
- access to current Dental Board of Australia (DBA) infection control and record keeping guidelines
- access to National Health and Medical Research Council's (NHMRC) Australian dietary guidelines
- access to organisational policies and procedures for:
  - patient privacy
  - confidentiality of patient information and disclosure
  - documentation and reporting
- modelling of industry operating conditions including access to people for simulations and scenarios in oral health care work.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.

Performance criteria specify the level of performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1. Follow safe work practices

1.1 Follow workplace policies and procedures for safe work practices

1.2 Identify existing and potential hazards in the workplace, report them to designated persons, and record them according to workplace procedures

1.3 Follow workplace emergency procedures

2. Implement safe work practices

2.1 Identify and implement WHS procedures and work instructions

2.2 Identify and report incidents and injuries to designated persons according to workplace procedures

2.3 Take actions to maintain safe housekeeping practices in own work area

3. Contribute to safe work practices in the workplace

3.1 Raise WHS issues with designated persons according to organisational procedures

3.2 Participate in workplace safety meetings, inspections and consultative activities

3.3 Contribute to the development and implementation of safe workplace policies and procedures in own work area

4. Reflect on own safe work practices

4.1 Identify ways to maintain currency of safe work practices in regards to workplace systems, equipment and processes in own work area

4.2 Reflect on own levels of stress and fatigue, and report to designated persons according to workplace procedures

Foundation Skills

The Foundation Skills describe those required skills (language, literacy, numeracy and employment skills) that are essential to performance.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once in line with state/territory WHS regulations, relevant codes of practice and workplace procedures:

- contributed to a WHS meeting or inspection in workplace
- conducted a workplace risk assessment and recorded the results
- consistently applied workplace safety procedures in the day-to-day work activities required by the job role
- followed workplace procedures for reporting hazards
- followed workplace procedures for a simulated emergency situation.

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- state/territory legislation and how it impacts on workplace regulations, codes of practice and industry standards, including:
  - state/territory WHS authorities
  - rights and responsibilities of employers and workers, including duty of care
  - hazardous manual tasks
  - infection control
- safety signs and their meanings, including signs for:
  - dangerous goods classifications
  - emergency equipment
  - personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - specific hazards such as sharps, radiation
- hazard identification, including:
  - definition of a hazard
  - common workplace hazards relevant to the industry setting
  - workplace procedures for hazard identification
- workplace emergency procedures
- workplace policies and procedures for WHS

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated:

- in the workplace

OR

- in an environment that provides realistic in-depth industry validated scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

Assessment must ensure use of:

  - poisons
  - emergency equipment
  - personal protective equipment (PPE)
  - specific hazards such as sharps, radiation
- hazard identification, including:
  - definition of a hazard
  - common workplace hazards relevant to the industry setting including hazardous manual tasks, infection control risks and personal safety risks
  - workplace procedures for hazard identification
  - strategies minimising risk
- safety considerations when working in a home-based environment, including:
  - rights and responsibilities of workers and clients
  - basic home fire safety including high-risk groups, behaviour that contributes to fire injury and fatalities, and smoke alarm placement, installation and maintenance.
  - risks to personal safety
  - common sources of infection and means to minimise transfer of infectious diseases
  - fundamentals of the musculoskeletal system and practices to minimise injury to self and clients
- workplace emergency procedures
- workplace policies and procedures for WHS

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated:

- in the workplace

OR

- in an environment that provides realistic in-depth industry validated scenarios and simulations to assess candidates' skills and knowledge.

In addition, assessment must ensure use of:

- current workplace policies and procedures for WHS

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role.

There must be demonstrated evidence that the candidate has completed the following tasks at least once in line with state/territory WHS regulations, relevant codes of practice and workplace procedures:

- conducted a workplace risk assessment and recorded the results, including:
  - identification of hazards and potential hazards
  - risk assessment
  - strategies for minimising risk, and
  - analysis of residual risk
- provided WHS information to at least two workers, including:
  - explanation of WHS policies and procedures
  - demonstration of safe housekeeping practices
  - correct use of personal protective equipment (PPE)

- consistently monitored safety procedures in the day-to-day work activities required by the job role
- completed a workplace incident report
- followed workplace procedures for a simulated emergency situation

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- State/territory legislation and how it impacts on workplace regulations, codes of practice and industry standards, including:
  - state/territory WHS authorities

- Principles of hazards and risk assessment, including:
  - hazard identification procedures
  - risk assessment process
  - residual risk
  - risk controls
  - hierarchy of control
- Workplace emergency procedures
- Workplace policies and procedures for WHS.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in the workplace.

In addition, simulations and scenarios must be used where the full range of contexts and situations cannot be provided in the workplace or may occur only rarely. These are situations relating to emergency or unplanned procedures where assessment in these circumstances would be unsafe or is impractical.

Simulated assessment environments must simulate the real-life working environment where these skills and knowledge would be performed, with all the relevant equipment and resources of that working environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- current workplace policies and procedures for WHS.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Requirements for HLTWHS006 Manage personal stressors in the work environment

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version was released in HLT Health Training Package release 2.0 and meets the requirements of the 2012 Standards for Training Packages. Significant changes to the elements and performance criteria. New evidence requirements for assessment including volume and frequency requirements.

Performance Evidence

The candidate must show evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the job role. There must be evidence that the candidate has:

- developed, implemented and reviewed 1 personal stress management plan that includes identified sources, triggers and responses to stress
- used strategies from personal stress management plan to manage 2 stressful situations in the workplace involving colleagues and/or clients

Knowledge Evidence

The candidate must be able to demonstrate essential knowledge required to effectively complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit, manage tasks and manage contingencies in the context of the work role. This includes knowledge of:

- sources of stress and how they manifest in health and/or community services work environment including:
  - complex client behaviour (emotional, aggressive, cognitive deficit, non-compliance)
  - grief and loss experienced by workers
  - exposure to stressful working conditions and stressful incidents
- work planning and prioritisation techniques e.g. time management strategies
- legal rights relating to the Fair Work Act
- services available for referral, both within the organisation and in the community e.g. informal/formal debriefing sessions and/or workplace counselling

- self-care techniques including:
  - impact of exercise, diet and nutrition on physical health
  - work/life balance strategies
  - complementary and alternative health options

Assessment Conditions

Skills must have been demonstrated in the workplace or in a simulated environment that reflects workplace conditions. Where simulation is used, it must reflect real working conditions by modelling industry operating conditions and contingencies, as well as, using suitable facilities, equipment and resources.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015/AQTF mandatory competency requirements for assessors.

Assessment Requirements for ICTWEB201 Use social media tools for collaboration and engagement

Modification History

Release	Comments
Release 1	This version first released with ICT Information and Communications Technology Training Package Version 1.0.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to:

- identify different types of social media tools and applications, and the issues associated with their use
- access the internet, set up a social networking presence and upload and link a wide variety of files
- use and evaluate social media tools and applications.

Note: If a specific volume or frequency is not stated, then evidence must be provided at least once.

Knowledge Evidence

To complete the unit requirements safely and effectively, the individual must:

- list basic technical terminology in relation to social networking, social media applications, and tools
- outline basic methods of uploading images, text files, portable document format (PDF) files, audio files, video files, and link the associated files
- state the features, and functions, of social media applications
- list import and export software functions
- explain how to link documents
- explain the process of tagging, in order to facilitate collaborative folksonomy
- list social media applications and procedures, for connecting to social networking sites
- identify and describe, input and output devices
- describe, and use, really simple syndication (RSS) feeds to connect a social network.

Assessment Conditions

Gather evidence to demonstrate consistent performance in conditions that are safe and replicate the workplace. Noise levels, production flow, interruptions and time variances must be typical of those experienced in the website technologies field of work, and include access to:

- a personal computer (PC) and printer
- the internet
- social-media tools and applications
- online instructional documents.

Assessors must satisfy NVR/AQTF assessor requirements.

LGADMIN423A Provide induction and orientation for new employees

Modification History

LGADMIN423A Release 2: Layout adjusted.

LGADMIN423A Release 1: Primary release.

Unit Descriptor

This unit covers developing, conducting and evaluating induction and orientation programs for new employees. The unit is suitable for those within the human resources area but could also be suitable for team leaders and managers.

Application of the Unit

This unit supports the attainment of skills and knowledge required for competent workplace performance in councils of all sizes. Knowledge of the legislation and regulations within which councils must operate is essential. The unique nature of councils, as a tier of government directed by elected members and reflecting the needs of local communities, must be appropriately reflected.

Overview of assessment requirements

A person who demonstrates competency in this unit will be able to perform the outcomes described in the Elements to the required performance level detailed in the Performance Criteria. The knowledge and skill requirements described in the Range Statement must also be demonstrated. For example, knowledge of the legislative framework and safe work practices that underpin the performance of the unit are also required to be demonstrated.

Critical aspects of evidence to be considered

The demonstrated ability to:

- develop induction processes and procedures that meet the organisation's objectives and are integrated with other key human resource functions
- establish effective induction processes that facilitate the provision of information matched to organisational needs

Context of assessment

Competency is demonstrated by performance of all stated criteria, with particular attention to the critical aspects and the knowledge and skills elaborated in the Evidence Guide, and within the scope of the Range Statement.

Assessment must take account of the endorsed Assessment Guidelines in the Local Government Training Package.

Assessment of performance requirements in this unit should be undertaken in an actual workplace or simulated environment.

Assessment should reinforce the integration of the key competencies for the particular AQF level. Refer to the key competency levels at the end of this unit.

Relationship to other units (prerequisite or co-requisite units)

To enable holistic assessment this unit may be assessed with other units that form part of the job role.

Method of assessment

The following assessment methods are suggested:

- observation of the learner performing a range of workplace tasks over sufficient time to demonstrate handling of a range of contingencies
- written and/or oral questioning to assess knowledge and understanding
- completion of workplace documentation
- third-party reports from experienced practitioners
- completion of self-paced learning materials including personal reflection and feedback from trainer, coach or supervisor

Evidence required for demonstration of consistent performance

Evidence should be collected over a set period of time that is sufficient to include dealings with an appropriate range and variety of formal and informal situations, involving different types of problems and clients.

Resource implications

The learner and trainer should have access to appropriate documentation and resources normally used in the workplace.

Range Statement

The Range Statement relates to the Unit of Competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording in the Performance Criteria is detailed below.

- natural justice/procedural fairness
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- where to access ethical decision making/problem solving models, organisational codes and procedures
- procedures for declaring conflicts of interest
- protocols for reporting fraud, corruption and maladministration
- occupational health and safety procedures relating to ethical work practices

Evidence Guide

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the Performance Criteria, Required Skills and Knowledge, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit:Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit:Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:

- PSPGOV303B Build and maintain internal networks
- PSPGOV305B Access and use resources and financial systems
- PSPGOV307B Organise workplace information
- PSPGOV308B Work effectively with diversity
- PSPGOV309A Address client needs
- PSPGOV312A Use workplace communication strategies
- PSPGOV314A Contribute to conflict management
- PSPIM301A Process claims
- PSPLAND302A Investigate tenure and land use history
- PSPLEGN301B Comply with legislation in the public sector
- PSPOHS301A Contribute to workplace safety
- PSPPROC302A Undertake basic procurement
- This unit should be co-assessed with other units to supply the context for ethical behaviour

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- ethical conduct in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) where contexts may be generalist or specialist work activities such as building and maintaining networks, delivering client services, using financial resources, procuring goods or services etc

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- ethics-related legislation and guidelines
- codes of conduct and codes of ethics
- public sector standards, procedures and protocols
- ethical decision making/problem solving models
- manager/mentor/network who role models ethical conduct

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when working ethically in a public sector environment, including coping with ambiguity, difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- ethical conduct in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time) where contexts may be generalist or specialist work activities such as building and maintaining networks, delivering client services, using financial resources, procuring goods or services etc.

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the Performance Criteria, is detailed below. ### Unit Descriptor

This unit covers the provision of on-the-job coaching to colleagues. This unit has no parity with National Workplace Trainer standards, but reflects the situation in many workplaces where formal and informal on-the-job coaching is extremely common. It includes preparation for coaching, and provision of and follow-up of coaching.

In practice, the provision of workplace coaching may overlap with other generalist or specialist public sector work activities such as acting ethically, complying with legislation, applying government processes, gathering and analysing information, using resources, promoting diversity, conducting awareness sessions, etc.

This unit is one of 4 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with coaching/mentoring. Related units are:

- PSPGOV311A Work with a coach or mentor
- PSPGOV414A Provide workplace mentoring
- PSPGOV506A Support workplace coaching and mentoring
- No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the essential skills and knowledge and their level, required for this unit.

Skill requirements

Look for evidence that confirms skills in:

- applying legislation, regulations and policies relating to the provision of workplace coaching
- providing supportive on-the-job coaching with constructive and supportive feedback
- planning coaching content, reviewing and adjusting goals
- seeking out and reviewing information related to work activities in which coaching is to occur
- giving instructions to others being coached
- seeking and providing feedback on coaching session
- systematically self-assessing coaching sessions/results and modifying techniques as a result
- questioning about aspects of skills learnt
- dealing with situations where there is a communication breakdown due to language, cultural or other barriers
- responding to diversity, including gender and disability
- applying procedures relating to occupational health and safety and environment in the context of workplace coaching

Knowledge requirements

Look for evidence that confirms knowledge and understanding of:

- legislation, regulations, policies, procedures and guidelines relating to provision of workplace coaching
- current competency in the area being coached
- basic principles and theory of coaching (explanation, demonstration, review, trainee explanation, trainee demonstration, feedback)
- equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity principles
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and environment in the context of workplace coaching

Evidence Guide

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
  - PSPBORD405A Develop operational effectiveness of detector dog teams
  - PSPETHC401A Uphold and support the values and principles of public service
  - PSPFRAU407B Conduct fraud control awareness sessions
  - PSPGOV403B Use resources to achieve work unit goals
  - PSPGOV405B Provide input to the change process

Overview of evidence

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their

requirements

related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- provision of workplace coaching in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to the provision of workplace coaching
- current information underpinning workplace coaching
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when providing workplace coaching

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when providing workplace coaching, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- provision of workplace coaching in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- observation
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- simulation or role plays
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. ### Unit Descriptor

This unit covers the application of a knowledge of government processes. It includes applying information relating to Machinery of Government, and applying knowledge of organisational functions and protocols Legislation/regulations applying across the public sector, such as equal employment opportunity, equity and diversity etc, are not addressed here, as these are covered in PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector.

In practice, knowledge of government processes is applied in the context of other generalist and specialist work activities such as delivering and monitoring services to clients, using resources, conducting interviews, giving evidence, awarding contracts etc.

This is one of 3 units of competency in the Working in Government Competency Field that deal with government processes. Related units are:

- PSPGOV515A Develop and use political nous
- PSPGOV601B Apply government systems

This unit replaces PSPGOV401A Apply knowledge of government processes. The units are not equivalent as this unit has additional knowledge requirements, and 2 additional performance criteria for dealing with ambiguity in the public sector; further, an element relating to legislation has been deleted because of overlap with PSPLEGN401A Encourage compliance with legislation in the public sector

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

1. Develop coaching/mentoring strategy

- 1.1 The potential for coaching and mentoring within the work group/organisation is researched.
- 1.2 A strategy is developed to implement and promote a coaching and mentoring framework, linked to other human resource strategies in the organisation.
- 1.3 Benefits to all parties involved in coaching and mentoring are clearly outlined, consistent with the organisation's philosophy and goals.
- 1.4 Ground rules established for coaching and mentoring in the organisation are contained within the strategy.
- 1.5 Timelines for the implementation of the strategy are developed with key stakeholders.
- 1.6 Organisational support and resources are obtained for the strategy in accordance with organisational procedures.

2. Establish a coaching/mentoring framework

- 2.1 A range of coaching/mentoring models is identified to suit the organisation's needs.
- 2.2 Training is arranged for those interested in being coaches, coached, mentors and/or mentored.
- 2.3 The requirements of coaching and mentoring contracts/agreements are developed and monitored in accordance with the coaching and mentoring strategy.
- 2.4 The range of stages in coaching and mentoring relationships is identified and flexibility is built in to the framework to manage the stages where necessary.

- principles and practices of coaching and mentoring that need to be addressed in the organisational strategy
- coaching/mentoring methodologies and strategies
- public sector legislation such as occupational health and safety and the environment in the context of workplace coaching and mentoring

Evidence Guide

The Evidence Guide specifies the evidence required to demonstrate achievement in the unit of competency as a whole. It must be read in conjunction with the Unit descriptor, Performance Criteria, the Range Statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Public Sector Training Package.

Units to be assessed together

- Pre-requisite units that must be achieved prior to this unit: Nil
- Co-requisite units that must be assessed with this unit: Nil
- Co-assessed units that may be assessed with this unit to increase the efficiency and realism of the assessment process include, but are not limited to:
  - PSPETHC501B Promote the values and ethos of public service
  - PSPGOV502B Develop client services

- PSPGOV503B Coordinate resource allocation and usage
- PSPGOV504B Undertake research and analysis
- PSPGOV505A Promote diversity
- PSPGOV511A Provide leadership
- PSPGOV512A Use complex workplace communication strategies
- PSPGOV516A Develop and use emotional intelligence

- PSPHR504A Implement workforce planning and succession strategies
- PSPHR508A Coordinate career development
- PSPLEGN501B Promote compliance with legislation in the public sector
- PSPOHS501A Monitor and maintain workplace safety

Overview of evidence requirements

In addition to integrated demonstration of the elements and their related performance criteria, look for evidence that confirms:

- the knowledge requirements of this unit
- the skill requirements of this unit
- application of Employability Skills as they relate to this unit
- coaching and mentoring supported in the organisation in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Resources required to carry out assessment

These resources include:

- legislation, policy, procedures and protocols relating to workplace coaching and mentoring
- current theory and practice for workplace coaching and mentoring
- case studies and workplace scenarios to capture the range of situations likely to be encountered when supporting coaching and mentoring in the organisation

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when supporting coaching and mentoring in the organisation, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine
- coaching and mentoring supported in the organisation in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time).

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations.

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- portfolios
- projects
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in bold italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Coaching:

- has a focus on the acquisition of job skills and knowledge and is generally short-term
- is a defined relationship to enhance performance
- is results oriented
- is performance or goal directed
- emphasises action or improved performance in a specific area
- requires good interpersonal relations
- is identified on personal learning and development plans
- is provided by a coach who:
  - provides learning opportunities
  - monitors performance
  - provides constructive feedback

Mentoring:

- maintains confidentiality
- may have undertaken training/development to undertake the role
- is not necessarily hierarchical
- generally has a longer-term focus on personal growth and learning
- includes a wide range of learning oriented to:
  - exchange of wisdom
  - support
  - guidance in personal or professional growth.
  - is a relationship, not just a procedure or activity
  - is one person professionally assisting the professional development of another
  - is a developmental effort to build skills and knowledge for advancement based on merit, rather than alliances/politically-based partnerships to advance careers based on politics rather than aptitude
- is provided by a mentor who:
  - facilitates the growth of the person being mentored and professional development
  - provides information, guidance and constructive comments
  - evaluates the plans of the person being mentored, decisions, goals and objectives
  - supports, encourages and, where necessary, highlights shortfalls in agreed performance
  - maintains confidentiality in the relationship
  - does NOT take over problems and try to solve them
  - does NOT give advice, criticisms or solutions, but supports the person being mentored to make their own decisions
  - is not the direct manager of the person being mentored

Other human resource strategies may include:

- performance management
- learning and development
- succession planning
- career management

Benefits may include:

- for the organisation:
  - increased productivity
  - new competencies available
  - more committed, involved and responsible personnel at all levels

- personal and trusting developmental relationships
- knowledge sharing
- safeguarding investment in high potential people
- culture change
- for the person being coached or mentored:
  - empowerment
  - opportunity to acquire competencies and professional experience
  - insights into the organisational culture, attitudes, protocols and expected behaviours
  - increased potential for career mobility and promotion
  - a supportive environment in which successes and failures can be evaluated
  - internal and external networking opportunities
  - development of professional abilities and self-confidence
  - recognition and job satisfaction
  - mutual respect
- for the coach/mentor:
  - renewed enthusiasm for the role (if an experienced employee)
  - challenging discussions with people who may have fresh perspectives
  - satisfaction from contributing to another's development
  - opportunities to reflect upon and articulate the role of coach/mentor
  - improved ability to share experiences and knowledge
  - opportunities to test new ideas
  - being of service to others
  - increased self-esteem

Ground rules may include:

- relationship is voluntary, although the requirement to participate in coaching may not be
- mentoring partners should not be in the same chain of command
- supervisors of both partners must approve, if in-house rather than out-sourced arrangement
- guidance and counsel from a coach/mentor does not supersede that of the supervisor in work-related matters
- training for coaching and mentoring partners
- a formal agreement
- active involvement of both partners in the process
- commitment from the organisation and both parties to the

Stakeholders may include:

- arrangement
- effectiveness measures
- requirements to monitor/evaluate and report on outcomes

Unit Descriptor

This unit covers the work activities required to carry out complex project activities or multiple projects simultaneously. Typically this work is undertaken by project officers who are required to work on projects for multiple clients, or all aspects of larger projects. They are sometimes responsible for all the project deliverables, and at other times they work in teams on aspects of a number of projects. Contract management requirements are not included, as this aspect is addressed by units of competency within the Competency field of Procurement and Contract Management.

The unit includes reviewing and confirming requirements of each project/activity, organising and undertaking project activities, managing the progress of multiple projects/activities and finalising projects/activities.

In practice, conducting complex project activities overlaps with other generalist and specialist work activities such as acting ethically, coordinating resource allocation and usage, developing client services, undertaking research and analysis.

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication

Where and how to assess evidence

Valid assessment of this unit requires:

- a workplace environment or one that closely resembles normal work practice and replicates the range of conditions likely to be encountered when conducting multiple project activities, including coping with difficulties, irregularities and breakdowns in routine

- complex project activities carried out in a range of (3 or more) contexts (or occasions, over time)

Assessment methods should reflect workplace demands, such as literacy, and the needs of particular groups, such as:

- people with disabilities
- people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people
- women
- young people
- older people
- people in rural and remote locations

Assessment methods suitable for valid and reliable assessment of this competency may include, but are not limited to, a combination of 2 or more of:

- case studies
- demonstration
- portfolios
- questioning
- scenarios
- authenticated evidence from the workplace and/or training courses

For consistency of assessment

Evidence must be gathered over time in a range of contexts to ensure the person can achieve the unit outcome and apply the competency in different situations or environments

Range Statement

The Range Statement provides information about the context in which the unit of competency is carried out. The variables cater for differences between States and Territories and the Commonwealth, and between organisations and workplaces. They allow for different work requirements, work practices and knowledge. The Range Statement also provides a focus for assessment. It relates to the unit as a whole. Text in bold italics in the Performance Criteria is explained here.

Policy and procedures may include:

- research data
- quality data including trials or test results
- draft materials
- samples, prototypes, models
- project outcomes
- record of time spent on project and progress in completing project
- correspondence
- financial data including costs, expenditure, income generated, purchases

Project management tools may include:

- risk analysis
- organisational project governance framework
- communications plan
- reporting framework
- project management software and other tools:
  - Gantt and bar charts
  - Program Evaluation and Review Technique (PERT) charts
  - Critical Path Method
  - cost schedule control system

- logistics support analysis
  - life cycle cost analysis
  - spreadsheets
  - recording systems - electronic and manual
- Risk management may include:
- removing the risk
  - transferring the risk
  - minimising the risk
  - accepting the risk
  - preparing a contingency plan
  - keeping reserves
- Consultation with project managers may also include:
- steering committees
  - project sponsors
  - business owners of the projects
  - program managers
  - specialist project management office
  - chief executive officer, manager or management representative
  - funding body representatives
  - customers or clients
- Solutions to problems may include:
- reducing costs
  - researching and applying more efficient methods of completing project tasks
  - seeking further resources to meet deadline
  - negotiating an extension of deadline or redefining completion or quantities or quality of outcomes
  - sharing of ideas to gain improvements to work undertaken within the project
  - outsourcing aspects of the project
  - changing roles and responsibilities within project team

Evidence Guide

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Assessment must confirm the ability to:

- communicate effectively with community members with diverse needs, perspectives and cultural backgrounds
- work with community members to develop effective recovery strategies

- provide accurate information and advice as necessary
- provide links to external networks, expertise and resources as necessary
- empower the community to achieve sustainable recovery.

Consistency in performance

Competency should be demonstrated in a range of contexts such as:

- throughout the life of a recovery operation
- during components of a number of operations.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Context of assessment

Competency should be assessed supporting community members to develop, implement and evaluate recovery strategies and activities in the workplace or in a simulated workplace environment.

Specific resources for assessment

Access is required to the opportunity to support community members during the recovery process in an actual or simulated emergency situation.

Guidance information for assessment

This unit contains many transferable skills, such as communication, consultation, research and analysis skills that can be applied in the emergency recovery context. Assessors should use formative assessment strategies in a simulated environment to contextualise underpinning knowledge.

Summative assessment may not be possible in a real-world environment and assessors should confirm that simulated environments are sufficiently complex to be realistic.

Range Statement

- workplace ethics
- staff counselling and disciplinary procedures
- workplace organisational structure

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the following is essential:

- identifies, locates and articulates the organisation's requirements, including goals and values
- demonstrates work practices that reflect the relationship between own role and organisational requirements
- demonstrates knowledge of workplace procedures for upholding employee and employer rights and responsibilities
- applies workplace dress, hygiene and personal presentation requirements.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure access to:

- a real or simulated retail work environment
- relevant documentation, such as:
  - workplace goals and values
  - workplace policies and procedures relating to:
    - WHS
    - customer service
    - personal dress, hygiene and presentation
    - rights and responsibilities of employees
    - awards and agreements.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- direct questioning combined with review of portfolios of evidence and third party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the candidate
- analysis of responses to case studies and scenarios
- observation of demonstrated techniques
- evaluation of time-management strategies applied to work duties
- written or oral questions appropriate to the language and literacy level of the learner to test knowledge that may include workplace policies and procedures.

Guidance information for assessment

Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, salon and job role, for example:

- SIRXCOM101 Communicate in the workplace to support team and customer outcomes.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Assessment Requirements for SISCCRO001 Plan and conduct recreation programs for older persons

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- plan, conduct and evaluate at least three different programs for older people, including both frail and moderately active participants
- conduct programs that individually or cumulatively incorporate at least three of the following activity types:
  - stretching and mobility
  - strengthening or conditioning
  - posture
  - balance
  - chair-based work
  - floor work
- use the following communication skills:
  - clear verbal communication
  - modelling and demonstration
  - motivational techniques.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- legislative and regulatory requirements that support and facilitate safe conduct of recreation programs for older participants:
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety
  - privacy and confidentiality
  - duty of care
  - equal opportunity and anti-discrimination
  - sexual harassment
- organisational policies and procedures for planning and conducting an recreation programs for older participants:
  - appropriate use of equipment and venues
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety

- risk minimisation
- privacy
- duty of care
- extent and limitations of responsibilities
- time constraints and scheduling requirements
- budget allocation
- use of modified equipment
- use of aids
- screening processes of older persons for entry into programs or activities:
  - interviews with participants and carers
  - medical history
  - physical ability tests
- general contraindications for participation
- factors affecting participation in programs for older persons
- potential types of participant needs and their impact on program planning:
  - physical
  - emotional
  - motivational
- program planning techniques and information to be included in plans
- psychological stages and impact of ageing on participation in recreation activities and the variations in older people's abilities
- risk analysis processes for assessing the potential impact of a planned recreation program on participant safety:
  - level of challenge and difficulty
  - behaviour of other participants
  - equipment failure
- activity specific knowledge to match activities with client needs and capabilities:
  - suitable exercises for older persons:
    - stretching and mobility exercises
    - strengthening or conditioning
    - confidence building
    - posture
    - balance
    - chair based
    - floor work
  - variations in status of participants:
    - impact of medication
    - chronological age
    - physiological age
    - medical conditions

- factors affecting group dynamics, conflict resolution and communication strategies:
  - verbal
  - modelling or demonstration
  - hand or arm signals
  - braille
- modified equipment and aids for older participants and equipment testing and checking techniques
- evaluation processes.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in:

- a workplace or simulated environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- equipment and resources required for the delivery of the program:
  - modified equipment and aids
- industry or organisational documentation such as program plans, forms relating to equipment checks and equipment damage
- legislation and organisational policies and procedures in relation to the conduct of programs for older persons
- older participants to undertake recreation programs; these can be:
  - participants in a community setting, or
  - individuals who participate in project activities, role plays or simulated activities, set up for the purpose of assessment, within a training organisation.

Assessment activities that allow the individual to:

- plan and conduct programs of a duration that reflects current industry practice.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- planning and organising skills to:
  - identify individual and group learning needs, goals and outcomes
  - establish a program and sequence of activities
  - locate suitable adventure-based learning environment
  - source equipment and resources
  - select suitable facilitation approaches and activities
- problem-solving skills to:
  - anticipate potential problems and consequences and establish contingency plans
  - sequence components within adventure activities
  - identify and manage possible physical and emotional dangers
  - respond to situational demands and make changes to activities where required
- communication and interpersonal skills to:
  - interact with and facilitate different groups in a variety of situations and circumstances
  - brief groups on safety issues, activity requirements and behaviour
  - provide active listening, questioning and feedback throughout activity
- self management skills to assess feedback and review and reflect on activity and personal performance.

Required knowledge

- legislation and organisational policies and procedures to enable safe conduct of all activities
- basic adventure-based learning cycle to enable appropriate sequencing of activities and debriefing
- facilitation approaches and activities applicable to a range of needs, ages and learning abilities to enhance learning outcomes
- theories on the transfer of learning and ways of transferring learning in different contexts to meet individual and group needs
- physical and psychological needs of participants to plan suitable adventure-based activities
- factors affecting participant's perception of risk to plan activities with a balance between real and perceived risk
- models and stages of group formation to enable effective and constructive group support
- factors impacting on group dynamics to enable response to group behaviour
- motivation techniques and strategies to keep participants engaged and challenged
- forms of reflective learning and facilitation to improve on various aspects of adventure-based learning activities and programming
- adventure environments, equipment and resources required to facilitate adventure-based learning activities.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the following is essential:

- plans and designs a sequence of adventure activities according to individual and group learning outcomes, needs and goals
- interacts effectively with group members from diverse backgrounds and facilitates adventure-based learning activities which evidence positive group dynamics
- monitors individual and group progression throughout activities and implements contingency plans where required
- evaluates and reflects on own performance as a facilitator to identify strengths, weaknesses and areas that need improvement.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure facilitation of adventure-based learning activities on multiple occasions to enable demonstration of competency and consistency of performance.

Assessment must also ensure access to:

- diverse groups of participants to take part in adventure-based learning activities
- an environment suitable for the conduct of adventure-based activities, this may include outdoor or indoor activities
- equipment and resources required for adventure-based learning activities.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- observation of planning processes, such as determining learning outcomes and assessing participant's needs
- observation of safe facilitation of adventure-based learning programs for a variety of individuals and groups
- oral and or written questioning to assess knowledge of facilitation approaches and activities
- third-party reports from a supervisor and or leader detailing performance.

Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role is recommended, for example:

- adventure activity specific units of competency.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Learning outcomes may include:

- recreational
- educational

- developmental
  - therapeutic
  - vocational.
- Relevant legislation may include:
- occupational health and safety
  - permits or permission for access
  - environmental regulations
  - marine regulations.
- Organisational policies and procedures may include:

SISXCAI003 Conduct non-instructional sport, fitness or recreation sessions

Modification History

Not applicable.

Application

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to plan and conduct non-instructional sport, fitness or recreation sessions. It requires the ability to develop session plans, resource sessions, ensure the welfare and satisfaction of participants, and develop and maintain group cooperation and interaction.

This unit applies to assistants under direct supervision in a range of roles and settings in the sport, fitness or recreation industries. This includes assistants in after-school or holiday-care programs, those assisting with coaching activities, or undertaking a support role in fitness activities, indoor and outdoor recreation activities such as camps and other guided activities.

These individuals undertake work according to relevant legislation and organisational policies and procedures.

No occupational licensing, certification or specific legislative requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- plan and conduct at least ten different sport, fitness or recreation sessions involving:
  - planned tasks, games, activities and exercises of varying durations
  - communication, demonstration and explanation of:
    - content, timing and sequence of activities
    - appropriate apparel and footwear
    - techniques and safe use of equipment
    - warm-up and cool-down techniques
    - activities during sessions
    - potential hazards
- use the following communication skills:
  - clear verbal communication
  - modelling and demonstration
  - motivational techniques
- complete session evaluations:
  - own work performance
  - collection of participant feedback:
    - suitability and safety of facilities and equipment
    - content of session
    - structure and content of the activity or session
    - participant progress.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- basic aspects of legislation related to planning, conducting and evaluating sport, fitness or recreation sessions:
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety requirements
  - equal opportunity and anti-discrimination

- privacy and confidentiality
- working with children requirements
- organisational policies and procedures related to planning, conducting and evaluating sessions:

  - condition of site or location
  - participant abilities
- conflict resolution strategies to enable group cohesion and interaction
- equipment specifications, testing and checking techniques to ensure the selection and safe use of appropriate equipment
- evaluation processes to enable improvements to be made to the program.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in:

- a sport, fitness or recreation environment with access to required equipment for participants. This can be a workplace or simulated environment.

Assessment must ensure use of:

- up-to-date equipment currently used in the sport, fitness or recreation industries, to ensure:
  - safety, e.g. helmets, head gear, gloves
  - the participant can participate in activities to suit their goals, e.g. racquets, bats, balls
- workplace documents currently used in the sport, fitness or recreation industries:
  - session plans
  - session and equipment checklists
  - participant feedback or evaluation forms
- organisational policies and procedures related to:
  - preparing, conducting and evaluating activity sessions
- activity support personnel and participants in a sport, fitness or recreation activity; support personnel and participants can be:
  - staff and participants in an industry workplace who are assisted by the individual during the assessment process or
  - individuals who participate in role plays or simulated activities, set up for the purpose of assessment, in a simulated industry environment operated within a training organisation.

Assessment activities that allow the individual to:

- plan and conduct a range of non-instructional sessions for a range of participants over an industry realistic period of time.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.

Foundation Skills

Foundation skills essential to performance in this unit, but not explicit in the performance criteria are listed here, along with a brief context statement.

SKILLS

DESCRIPTION

- Reading skills to:
- interpret emergency documentation, reports and signals.
- Writing skills to:
- complete accurate and detailed emergency documentation.
- Planning and organising skills to:
- coordinate resources and equipment necessary to respond effectively to emergency situations.
- Self-management skills to:
- review and reflect on own work performance in coordinating emergency responses.

Assessment Requirements for SISXEMR002 Coordinate emergency responses

Modification History

Not applicable.

Performance Evidence

Evidence of the ability to complete tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit in the context of the job role, and:

- identify and assess at least five of the following emergency situations and coordinate the appropriate response:
  - fire
  - hazardous release
  - bomb threat
  - medical
  - accidents
  - panic and other emotional responses
  - equipment failure
  - lost party member
  - changing environmental conditions
  - activity specific
- two of the above situations must include an assessment that identifies possible escalation and an appropriate response actioned for each.
- confirm and supervise the selection and safe use of emergency equipment for each situation.

Knowledge Evidence

Demonstrated knowledge required to complete the tasks outlined in elements and performance criteria of this unit:

- legislation to enable application of legal requirements according to own work role and level of responsibility:
  - duty of care
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety
  - environment protection
  - hazardous substances
  - public health and safety
- organisational emergency policies and procedures related to coordinating emergency responses:

- communication lines
- debrief procedures
- duty of care
- emergency procedures
- environment protection
- exit and assembly points
- hazardous substances and dangerous goods
- industry codes of practice
- reporting incidents
- work health and safety/occupational health and safety
- appropriate responses to emergency situations, as specified in the Performance Evidence
- location and safe use of rescue and emergency equipment and resources:
  - hoses
  - ladders
  - rescue equipment
  - monitors
  - foam equipment and extinguishers
  - blankets
  - spill kits
  - personal protective clothing and equipment
  - salvage gear
  - first aid and evacuation equipment
- the potential for emergency escalation:
  - spread of fire
  - threat to adjoining areas
  - dangers of explosion
  - loss of communications
  - involvement of additional persons
  - deterioration in environmental conditions
- rescue techniques
- emergency response agencies within the activity area and direct communication channels to enable information about an emergency to be communicated quickly and directly
- factors that impact on emergency situations to enable appropriate contingency planning
- behaviour and characteristics of typical emergencies to enable the development of an action plan to quickly and effectively bring the situation under control.

Assessment Conditions

Skills must be demonstrated in:

- a sport, fitness or recreation environment where the individual is exposed to simulated emergencies requiring response. This can be a workplace or simulated environment.

Assessment must ensure access to:

- current industry procedures for reporting and managing emergency situations
- legislation relevant to emergencies:
  - work health and safety/occupational health and safety
  - duty of care
  - environment protection
  - hazardous substances and dangerous goods
  - public health and safety
  - industry codes of practice
- equipment and resources to ensure adequate response to emergencies relevant to work role and workplace
- a variety of clients and/or participants requiring an emergency response, clients and participants can be:
  - clients and participants in a sport, fitness or recreation industry workplace who are assisted by the individual during the assessment process or
  - individuals who participate in role plays or simulated activities, set up for the purpose of assessment, in a simulated industry environment operated within a training organisation.

Assessment activities that allow the individual to:

- coordinate participant movement during emergency situations
- respond to a range of emergencies in a sport, fitness or recreation environment, within the required, but realistic, timeframe.

Assessors must satisfy the Standards for Registered Training Organisations' requirements for assessors.

SISXFAC409 Plan and provide sport, fitness and recreation services

Modification History

The release details of this endorsed unit of competency set are in the table below. The latest information is at the top.

Release	Comments
1	Replaces but is not equivalent to SISXFAC405A Plan and provide sport and recreation services. Competency outcome changed. Additional requirements around assessing profitability, partnerships and reporting to reflect industry best practice.

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to determine the sport, fitness and recreation services required by clients and to plan, implement and evaluate the services from a facility management perspective.

Application of the Unit

This unit applies to those who work autonomously in an administrative or organisational capacity in a sport, fitness and recreation environment. This may include facility and administration coordinators supporting the management of ancillary functions required to ensure the effective provision of specific services and programs in locations such as fitness centres, outdoor sporting grounds or complexes, aquatic centres or sporting organisations and associations.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

No licensing, legislative, regulatory or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of endorsement.

Pre-Requisites

Not applicable.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- interpersonal skills to:
  - consult and interact with target groups in the community to elicit information required to determine needs for the service
  - source, interpret and confirm information to inform service planning
  - liaise with appropriate personnel to make suggestions and plan the service
  - seek feedback from service users and staff
  - build relationships with stakeholders
- problem-solving skills to:
  - plan a service according to target group needs
  - assess risk factors
  - modify the service as required
  - assess service outcomes against initial objectives to suggest potential improvements
- planning and organising skills to:
  - source and allocate resources for the service
  - develop and implement a work plan for the service within appropriate timelines
- language and literacy skills to:
  - complete research into user needs
  - produce and document service plans
  - complete documentation in relation to recommendations for improvement
- numeracy skills to develop budgets for service provision and analyse profitability
- self-management skills to review and reflect on own work performance in planning and implementing the service according to participant expectations.

Required knowledge

- legislation to enable:

- safe and equitable delivery of the service to target groups
- safe use of equipment and materials
- organisational policies and procedures to enable safe, satisfactory and beneficial outcomes for all participants
- principles of inclusive practices
- reasons for individual participation in sport, fitness and recreation services to ensure this information is included in planning for service
- risk-analysis processes to evaluate the risk and possible impact of planned sport and recreation services
- activity-specific knowledge of planned sport, fitness and recreation services to ensure services match participants' needs
- cost-benefit analysis techniques
- marketing strategies suitable for target groups
- insurance arrangements to suit the service.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- plan and provide services within budgetary constraints that reflect the needs of a range of participants in accordance with organisational policies and procedures
- monitor the provision of services and apply effective contingency-management techniques to deal with a range of new or changing situations that may arise, and make adjustments in response to these changing situations
- evaluate and document the outcomes of the service
- make recommendations on services and reflect on own work performance to identify ways in which service outcomes and benefits to participants can be improved.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure:

- planning, implementation and evaluation of multiple sport, fitness or recreation services to allow the individual to demonstrate competency and consistency of performance.

Assessment must also ensure access to:

- an environment or facility appropriate to the planning and provision of sport, fitness or recreation services

- target groups with specific needs
- appropriate persons to provide approvals
- resources for the service
- organisational documentation relevant to service provision.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- observation of planning and implementing a sport fitness or recreation service
- observation of interacting with a range of target groups to establish service needs
- observation of dealing with contingencies, such as changing circumstances in service provision
- oral and or written questioning to assess knowledge of principles of community development practices
- portfolio containing evidence of work plans for sport, fitness and recreation services and reports on outcomes
- third-party reports from a supervisor detailing appropriate work performed by the individual.

Guidance information for assessment

Holistic assessment with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role is recommended, for example:

- SISXCCS404A Address client needs.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the individual, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Target groups may include:

- culturally and linguistically diverse
- age-specific
- disability-specific
- gender-specific.

Services may include:

- major events
- competitions
- educational initiatives
- promotional activities or campaigns
- group or individual programs.

Needs may include:

- cultural

Organisation policies and procedures may include:

- linguistic
- disability specific.
- organisational objectives
- work health and safety
- reporting and accountability
- resource allocation
- emergency procedures.

Relevant legislation may include:

- Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) or Work Health and Safety (WHS)
- equal employment opportunity (EEO)
- privacy
- child protection
- state and territory statutory requirements
- local laws and by-laws
- ordinances and policy.

Work plans may include:

- objectives
- timeframes
- stakeholder requirements
- funding sources and criteria
- administration procedures
- promotion strategies
- risk factors, including:
  - ground and facility risks
  - equipment risks.

Resources may include:

- staff
- equipment
- venues
- industry associations and peak bodies
- external partners
- volunteers
- documentation.

Budget may include:

- setting fees
- income from other sources
- allocating funds.

New or changing circumstances may include:

- participant numbers
- weather
- facility booking falling through
- equipment failure
- emergencies.

Feedback may include:

- qualitative
- quantitative

- evaluation forms and surveys
- financial information.

SITHFAB201 Provide responsible service of alcohol

Modification History

The version details of this endorsed unit of competency set are in the table below. The latest information is at the top.

Version	Comments
2.0 updated on 2 March 2023	Minor changes to Range Statement
2.0	Amendments to the Evidence Guide which better define the assessment environment and assessment requirements of the unit.
1.0	E Replaces and is equivalent to SITHFAB009A Provide responsible service of alcohol.

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to responsibly sell or serve alcohol.

Application of the Unit

Responsible practices must be undertaken wherever alcohol is served or sold, including where alcohol samples are served during on-site product tastings. This unit, therefore, applies to any workplace where alcohol is served or sold, including all types of hospitality venues, retail liquor outlets and wineries, breweries and distilleries.

This unit applies to all levels of sales personnel involved in the sale, service and promotional service of alcohol in licensed premises. Those selling or serving alcohol may include food and beverage attendants; retail liquor sales persons; winery, brewery and distillery cellar door staff and supplier sales representatives. It also applies to security staff who monitor customer behaviour and to the licensee who is ultimately responsible for RSA management.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

The unit incorporates the knowledge requirements, under state and territory liquor licensing law, for employees engaged in the sale or service of alcohol.

Certification requirements differ across states and territories. In most cases all people involved in the sale, service and promotional service of alcohol in licensed premises must be certified in this unit. This can include the licensee and security staff.

This unit covers the Responsible Service of Alcohol (RSA) skill and knowledge requirements common to all States and Territories. Some legislative requirements and knowledge will differ across borders. In some cases after completion of this unit, state and territory liquor authorities require candidates to complete a bridging course to address these specific differences.

Those developing training to support this unit must consult the relevant state or territory liquor licensing authority to determine any accreditation arrangements for courses, trainers and assessors.

Pre-Requisites

Not applicable.

Employability Skills Information

This unit contains employability skills.

Elements and Performance Criteria Pre-Content

Elements and Performance Criteria

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

1. Sell or serve alcohol responsibly.

- 1.1 Sell or serve alcohol according to provisions of relevant state or territory legislation, licensing requirements and responsible service of alcohol principles.
- 1.2 Provide accurate information to customers on alcoholic beverages according to organisation or house policy and government legislation, including types, strengths, standard drinks and the alcoholic percentages of a range of frequently sold alcoholic beverages.
- 1.3 Assist customers with information on the range of non alcoholic beverages available for purchase.
- 1.4 Identify issues related to the sale and service of alcohol to different types of customers, especially those at risk, and incorporate them into sales or service.

2. Assist customers to drink within appropriate limits.
  - 2.1 Prepare and serve standard drinks or samples according to industry requirements.
  - 2.2 Encourage customers courteously and diplomatically to drink within appropriate limits.

  - 2.4 Monitor emotional and physical state of customers for signs of intoxication and ill effects of illicit or other drug usage.
  - 2.5 Where appropriate, offer food and non alcoholic beverages.
  - 2.6 Politely decline requests for alcohol to be dispensed in a manner that is irresponsible, or which encourages the rapid or excessive consumption of alcohol, and advise customers of the reasons for the refusal.
3. Assess alcohol affected customers and identify customers to whom sale or service must be refused.
  - 3.1 Assess intoxication levels of customers using a number of methods, including observing changes in behaviour, observing emotional and physical state, and monitoring noise levels and drink purchases.
  - 3.2 When assessing intoxication, take into account factors that may affect individual responses to alcohol.
  - 3.3 Identify customers to whom sale or service must be refused according to state and territory legislation, including minors, those purchasing on behalf of minors, intoxicated persons, and persons affected by the consumption of illicit and other drugs.
  - 3.4 Where appropriate, request and obtain acceptable proof of age prior to sale or service.
4. Refuse to provide alcohol.
  - 4.1 Refuse service in a polite manner and state reasons for the refusal.
  - 4.2 Speak to intoxicated customers in a suitable and consistent manner, minimising confrontation and arguments and point out signage.
  - 4.3 Provide appropriate assistance to customers when refusing service.
  - 4.4 Where appropriate, give customers a verbal warning and ask them to leave the premises according to organisation or house requirements, the specific situation and provisions of state or territory legislation and regulations.
  - 4.5 Use appropriate communication and conflict resolution skills to handle difficult situations.
  - 4.6 Refer difficult situations beyond the scope of individual responsibility to the appropriate person.
  - 4.7 Promptly identify situations that pose a threat to the safety or security of colleagues, customers or property, and seek assistance from appropriate colleagues according to organisational policy.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- communication to:
  - provide complex information on responsible service of alcohol laws in a way that is readily understood by customers
  - speak firmly and clearly with intoxicated customers
  - deal with customers sensitively, courteously and discreetly using non-confrontational language
- critical thinking skills to assess intoxication levels of customers
- initiative and enterprise skills to offer food and non-alcoholic beverages to assist customers
- learning skills to continuously update knowledge of changing responsible service of alcohol laws and regulations
- literacy skills to:
  - read and interpret documents such as identification (ID) cards, proof of age cards, driver's licences, statutory signage, warning signs and wording within advertising or promotional material, in-house policies and procedures and any general plain English regulatory and advisory information issued by local, or state and territory liquor licensing authorities
- numeracy skills to measure and calculate standard drinks or samples and calculate blood alcohol levels to determine alcohol consumption
- problem-solving skills to:
  - identify customers to whom sale or service must be refused
  - identify intoxicated persons and refuse service
  - identify situations that pose a safety threat and seek assistance from appropriate colleagues
- teamwork skills to share customer information with team members to ensure proper responsible service of alcohol practices within the organisation.

Required knowledge

- public interest reasons for implementation of responsible service of alcohol practices, including:
  - government and community concern with alcohol misuse and abuse
  - crime, violence and anti-social behaviour associated with alcohol abuse
- impact of excessive drinking on:

- local neighbourhood and community
- premises and staff
- customers
- particular types of customers who may be at heightened risk such as young people, pregnant women and minors
- government agencies such as the local police, health facilities and road authority
- key agencies and how to source relevant information on laws, regulations and codes of practice or conduct
- current promotional and strategic community education campaigns developed and conducted by agencies and industry groups
- effects of alcohol on:
  - emotional state
  - health
  - physical alertness
- factors that affect individual responses to alcohol, including:
  - gender
  - weight
  - general health
  - rate of consumption
  - food intake
  - other substances taken
- time for effects of alcohol to be registered
- standard drinks and acceptable measures of alcohol
- indicators of intoxication, including ways of assessing intoxication of customers
- ways of assessing customers affected by the consumption of illicit and other drugs
- principles of harm minimisation and strategies to minimise the harm associated with liquor abuse:
  - strategies laid down in legislation and codes of conduct developed by government agencies or industry groups
  - organisational policies that are designed to reduce the harm associated with liquor abuse
- the key provisions of liquor laws and regulations at a depth relevant to the scope of job responsibility within licensed premises, including the following list that expresses general statements about requirements of liquor legislation and information that must be customised for each State or Territory:
  - legislative definition of intoxication; intoxicated person and unduly intoxicated
  - role of individual staff members and supervisors or managers in providing responsible service of alcohol, including seller or server duty of care and liability
  - requirement to adopt and use statutory signage on the premises for the entire range of circumstances applicable to the organisation
  - requirements for mandatory content of any warning signs and wording within advertising or promotional material of any form, such as print advertising or internet sales

- requirements for the remote sale and delivery of alcohol sales generated via the telephone, fax, email or mail
- requirements for proof of age and obligations to minors under local legislation
- provisions for retaining and reporting falsified proof of age documents
- provisions for requiring someone to leave the premises
- transportation options
- barring procedures
- opening and closing hour provisions
- requirements for monitoring noise and disturbances in and around licensed premises
- requirements laid down in codes of practice or conduct developed by government agencies or industry groups
- requirements described by an in-house policy, standard or code of practice or conduct
- training and record keeping requirements
- banned or undesirable products
- personal and business implications of breaching any laws, regulations, government or industry-driven codes of practice or conduct
- offences and penalties relating to offences
- legal restrictions on alcohol use customised to state or territory legislation, including intoxication provisions of liquor licensing laws
- legal drink and drive limits.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- responsibly sell or serve alcohol on multiple occasions to customers
- satisfy the legal requirements for responsible sale or service of alcohol for the local state or territory law
- follow organisational policies and procedures for the responsible service of alcohol
- demonstrate knowledge of:
  - reasons for and benefits of responsible service of alcohol
  - principles of responsible service of alcohol and harm minimisation

- the key provisions of liquor laws and regulations at a depth relevant to the scope of job responsibility within licensed premises
- the ramifications of non-compliance with the law and industry codes for the organisation, licensee and individual staff members.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure use of:

- a real or simulated workplace
- a range of industry equipment to demonstrate standard drink measures or samples
- relevant and current publications, signage, information and plain English fact sheets distributed by government regulators and industry bodies.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess the practical skills and knowledge required to sell or serve alcohol responsibly.

The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- role-plays or case studies simulating customers, intoxicated patrons and alcohol that allow assessment of the individual's ability to:
  - interact with customers and explain organisational legal requirements to sell or serve alcohol responsibly
  - explain in-house policies for the service of alcohol
  - refuse service to people to whom alcohol cannot be served
  - speak to intoxicated customers to minimise confrontation
- case studies and problem-solving activities to assess the individual's ability to respond to:
  - situations where customers are engaging in erratic drinking patterns
  - signage deficiencies
  - situations that pose a safety threat
- written or oral questioning to assess knowledge of legislation and all other knowledge components of this unit
- review of portfolios of evidence and third-party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the individual.

Guidance information for

The assessor should design integrated assessment

assessment

activities to holistically assess this unit with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role, for example:

- SITHFAB202 Operate a bar
- SITHFAB302 Conduct a product tasting for alcoholic beverages
- SITHFAB303 Prepare and serve cocktails
- SITHFAB304 Provide advice on beers, spirits and liqueurs
- SITHFAB305 Provide advice on Australian wines
- SITHFAB306 Provide advice on imported wines
- SITHFAB307 Provide table service of food and beverage.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Accurate information may be provided to customers:

- by use of fact sheets and advertising material that comply with legislative requirements
- by use of mandatory signage
- verbally.

Issues may include:

- demeanour and mood
- familiarity with specific customers
- perceived effects of illicit and other drug usage
- perceived health status
- physical stature
- social context.

Those at risk may include:

- minors
- people affected by the consumption of illicit and other drugs
- people from non-English speaking backgrounds
- women
- young customers.
- appropriate nip measures

Standard drinks should be measured using:

Samples may include tastings of any item for sale in a:

- appropriately sized sample glasses
- electronic dispensing and measuring devices.
- brewery
- distillery
- hospitality venue
- retail liquor outlet
- winery.

Erratic drinking patterns may include:

- mixing a wide range of drink types
- drinking quickly and asking for more immediately
- ordering more than one drink for self-consumption
- mixing alcohol consumption with consumption of prescription or illicit drugs
- consistently returning to the tasting site to request more samples
- ordering multiple samples
- ordering large samples
- ordering ‘triple shots’ or extra large drinks.

Requests for drinks to be dispensed in a manner that is irresponsible, or which encourages the rapid or excessive consumption of liquor include:

- jugs of spirits and mixers
- large samples
- laybacks
- multiple samples for self-consumption
- rocket fuel
- shooters
- test tubes
- yard glasses.

Changes in behaviour may involve the customer becoming:

- aggressive
- disorderly
- quarrelsome
- violent.

Factors include:

- food intake
- gender
- general health
- other substances taken, especially illicit and other drugs
- rate of consumption
- weight.

Version	Comments
1.0	E Replaces and is equivalent to SITXFSA003A Transport and store food in a safe and hygienic manner. Prerequisite removed. Title simplified. Minor adjustments to expression of content to streamline and improve unit. Wording adjusted to better reflect regulatory requirements.

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to transport food from a food preparation area to another location. It also deals with holding or storage on arrival.

Application of the Unit

This unit applies to catering operations where food is transported from the preparation area to another location and stored on arrival. This could include restaurants, educational institutions, aged care facilities, hospitals, defence forces, cafeterias, kiosks, cafes, residential catering, in-flight and other transport catering, events catering and private catering. It applies to food handlers who directly handle food when transporting and storing food. People at many levels use this skill in the workplace including cooks, chefs, caterers and catering assistants.

The person transporting the food may or may not be driving the vehicle.

Licensing/Regulatory Information

Food handlers involved in transporting and storing food must comply with the requirements contained within the Australia New Zealand Food Standards (ANZFS) Code (the Code). Business may be required to implement a food safety program and food handlers would need to comply with the transportation provisions.

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

1. Transport food safely and hygienically.
  - 1.1 Select suitable food transportation vehicles according to legislative requirements.
  - 1.2 Package, load, restrain and unload food appropriately.
  - 1.3 Use hygienic food safety practices for food transportation
  - 1.4 Use safe manual handling techniques when moving and storing food.
  - 1.5 Maintain records of food transportation as required.
2. Store food safely and hygienically.
  - 2.1 Select food storage conditions for specific food types.
  - 2.2 Maintain environmental conditions for specific food types to ensure freshness, quality and appearance.
  - 2.3 Ensure storage and holding methods optimise nutritional quality and comply with relevant stock control principles.
  - 2.4 Use hygienic food safety practices and observe work health and safety procedures and practices.
  - 2.5 Keep storage areas free from contaminants and pests.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- literacy skills to:
  - read work instructions and food labels

- complete records of food transportation
- numeracy skills to calculate quantities during the packing and unpacking process
- problem-solving skills to deal with routine food handling, storage and transportation problems.

Required knowledge

- basic aspects of national, state or territory food safety laws, standards and codes, including:
  - actions that must be adhered to by organisations
  - employee responsibility to participate in hygienic practices
  - reasons for food safety programs, when they are required for transportation activities and what they must contain
  - role of local government regulators
  - ramifications of failure to observe food safety law and organisational policies and procedures
  - meaning of contaminant, contamination and potentially hazardous foods as defined by the Code
- advantages and disadvantages of different forms of transport for particular food items, quantities and circumstances
- safe storage principles and practices for different food types, including storage options
- characteristics of different food items and conditions required to maintain optimum freshness, palatability and safety, including:
  - dairy
  - dried goods
  - eggs
  - frozen food
  - fruit and vegetables
  - meat and fish
- for the specific industry sector and organisation:
  - sources and effects of microbiological contamination of food in transit
  - methods of transportation and storage to ensure the safety of food
  - temperature controls and temperature danger zones, for storage of main food types used in the business
  - the contents of food safety transportation procedures included in organisational food safety program
- safe manual handling techniques, in particular loading and unloading, lifting and dealing with heated surfaces.

Evidence Guide

The evidence guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- transport and store food items according to food safety requirements and regulations
- demonstrate knowledge of specific requirements for different food types, including:
  - dairy
  - dried goods
  - eggs
  - frozen food
  - fruit and vegetables
  - meat and fish.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Assessment must ensure use of:

- vehicles suitable for the transportation of food
- food ingredients and ready to eat food items to be transported
- industry-current equipment for the transportation and storage of food
- current plain English regulatory documents distributed by the national, state, territory or local government food safety authority
- the Code
- current commercial food safety programs, policies and procedures used for the management of food safety.

Method of assessment

A range of assessment methods should be used to assess practical skills and knowledge. The following examples are appropriate for this unit:

- direct observation of the individual transporting and storing food items
- inspection of food transported and stored by the individual
- use of case studies to assess knowledge of requirements for different food types
- written or oral questioning to assess knowledge of food safety requirements
- review of portfolios of evidence and third-party workplace reports of on-the-job performance by the individual.

Guidance information for

The assessor should design integrated assessment

activities to holistically assess this unit with other units relevant to the industry sector, workplace and job role, for example:

- SITHCCC104 Package prepared foodstuffs
- SITXFSA101 Use hygienic practices for food safety.

Range Statement

The range statement relates to the unit of competency as a whole. It allows for different work environments and situations that may affect performance. Bold italicised wording, if used in the performance criteria, is detailed below. Essential operating conditions that may be present with training and assessment (depending on the work situation, needs of the candidate, accessibility of the item, and local industry and regional contexts) may also be included.

Type of transportation used may include:

- cars
- refrigerated trucks
- trolleys, carts and buggies
- vans.
- food safety programs
- lining
- sealing
- temperature.

Legislative requirements refer to federal, state or territory, and local regulations and guidelines and may apply to:

- dairy
- dried goods
- eggs
- frozen food
- fruit and vegetables
- meat and fish.
- humidity
- light
- pests

Unit Descriptor

This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to develop and implement a recognition strategy in the context of organisational development. It requires the ability to prepare information and advice on recognition, to identify evidence gathering opportunities and to evaluate a recognition-based assessment process. It also focuses on continuously improving recognition processes within an organisation.

Application of the Unit

This unit typically applies to those who have a role in developing procedures and documentation for recognition-based assessment for an organisation.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analysis and interpretation skills to:
  - unpack competency standards
  - interpret job description and performance appraisal information and map to units of competency
  - identify candidate needs
- communication skills to:
  - explain the recognition process to the candidate
  - give clear and precise instructions and advice
  - discuss the recognition process with other relevant people
  - discuss the assessment outcome with the candidate
- literacy skills to:
  - read and interpret relevant information to conduct recognition-based assessment
  - prepare required documentation and records/reports of recognition outcomes in the required format
- research and evaluation skills to:
  - research workplace sources of evidence
  - access recognition policies and procedures
  - evaluate evidence
  - evaluate the recognition process.

Required knowledge

- recognition-based assessment including:
  - the criteria used in national VET; endorsed or accredited competency standards defining specifications for performance of work and work functions which include skills and knowledge
  - units of competency as the basis of qualifications
  - the principles of recognition and evidence-based assessment
  - the structure and application of competency standards
- how to interpret competency standards and other related assessment information to determine the evidence required to demonstrate competency including:
  - the components of competency

- Training Package Assessment Guidelines
- the organisations assessment system, policies and procedures
- different types of recognition approaches and tools
- the principles of assessment and how they guide assessment, validation and appeals processes
- assessment validation
- roles and responsibilities in the recognition process, including OHS obligations and duty of care
- legal, organisational and ethical responsibilities associated with the assessment system, including:
  - maintaining client privacy and confidentiality
  - providing accurate information
  - duty of care under common law
  - compliance with AQTF requirements

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Organise instruction and demonstration	1.1. Gather information about learner characteristics and learning needs 1.2. Confirm a safe learning environment 1.3. Gather and check instruction and demonstration objectives and seek assistance if required 1.4. Access and review relevant learning resources and learning materials for suitability and relevance, and seek assistance to interpret the contextual application 1.5. Organise access to necessary equipment or physical resources required for instruction and demonstration 1.6. Notify learners of details regarding the implementation of the learning program and/or delivery plan
2. Conduct instruction and demonstration	2.1. Use interpersonal skills with learners to establish a safe and comfortable learning environment 2.2. Follow the learning program and/or delivery plan to cover all learning objectives 2.3. Brief learners on any OHS procedures and requirements prior to and during training 2.4. Use delivery techniques to structure, pace and enhance learning 2.5. Apply coaching techniques to assist learning 2.6. Use communication skills to provide information,

	instruct learners and demonstrate relevant work skills 2.7. Provide opportunities for practice during instruction and through work activities 2.8. Provide and discuss feedback on learner performance to support learning
3. Check training performance	3.1. Use measures to ensure learners are acquiring and can use new technical and generic skills and knowledge 3.2. Monitor learner progress and outcomes in consultation with learner 3.3. Review relationship between the trainer/coach and the learner and adjust to suit learner needs
4. Review personal training performance and finalise documentation	4.1. Reflect upon personal performance in providing instruction and demonstration, and document strategies for improvement 4.2. Maintain, store and secure learner records according to organisational and legal requirements

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- verbal and non-verbal communication techniques, such as:
  - asking relevant and appropriate questions
  - providing explanations
  - demonstrating
  - using listening skills
  - providing information clearly
- safety skills to implement OHS requirements, by acting and responding safely in order to:
  - identify hazards
  - conduct prestart-up checks if required
  - observe and interpret learner behaviour that may put people at risk
- time-management, skills to:

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- ensure all learning objectives are covered
- pace learning
- reflection skills in order to:
  - identify areas for improvement
  - maintain personal skill development
- literacy skills to:
  - complete and maintain documentation
  - read and follow learning programs and plans
  - read and analyse learner information
- technology skills to operate audio-visual and technical equipment
- interpersonal skills to:
  - engage, motivate and connect with learners
  - provide constructive feedback
  - maintain appropriate relationships
  - establish trust
  - use appropriate body language
  - maintain humour
  - demonstrate tolerance
  - manage a group
  - recognise and be sensitive to individual difference and diversity
- observation skills to:
  - monitor learner acquisition of new skills, knowledge and competency requirements
  - assess learner communication and skills in interacting with others
  - identify learner concerns
  - recognise learner readiness to take on new skills and tasks

Required knowledge

- learner characteristics and needs
- content and requirements of the relevant learning program and/or delivery plan
- sources and availability of relevant learning resources and learning materials
- content of learning resources and learning materials
- training techniques that enhance learning and when to use them
- introductory knowledge of learning principles and learning styles
- key OHS issues in the learning environment, including:
  - roles and responsibilities of key personnel
  - responsibilities of learners
  - relevant policies and procedures, including hazard identification, risk assessment, reporting requirements, safe use of equipment and emergency

procedures

- risk controls for the specific learning environment

Evidence Guide*EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Assessment must address the scope of this unit and reflect all components of the unit. A range of appropriate assessment methods and evidence-gathering techniques must be used to determine competency. A judgement of competency should only be made when the assessor is confident that the required outcomes of the unit have been achieved and that consistent performance has been demonstrated.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- carry out a minimum of three training sessions, involving demonstrating and instructing particular work skills for different groups; with each session addressing:
  - different learning objectives
  - a range of techniques and effective communication skills appropriate to the audience.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Evidence must be gathered in the workplace wherever possible. Where no workplace is available, a simulated workplace must be provided.

Method of assessment*Guidance information for assessment

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Interpret learning environment and delivery requirements	1.1. Access, read and interpret learning program documentation to determine delivery requirements 1.2. Use available information and documentation to identify group and individual learner needs and learner characteristics 1.3. Identify and assess constraints and risks to delivery 1.4. Confirm personal role and responsibilities in planning and delivering training with relevant personnel
2. Prepare session plans	2.1. Refine existing learning objectives according to program requirements and specific needs of individual learners 2.2. Develop session plans and document these for each segment of the learning program 2.3. Use knowledge of learning principles and theories to generate ideas for managing session delivery
3. Prepare resources for delivery	3.1. Contextualise existing learning materials to meet the needs of the specific learner group 3.2. Finalise learning materials and organise facility, technology and equipment needs in time for delivery of learning sessions 3.3. Confirm overall delivery arrangements with relevant personnel
4. Deliver and facilitate training sessions	4.1. Conduct each session according to session plan, modified where appropriate to meet learner needs 4.2. Use the diversity of the group as another resource to support learning 4.3. Employ a range of delivery methods as training aids to optimise learner experiences 4.4. Demonstrate effective facilitation skills to ensure effective participation and group management

5. Support and monitor learning	5.1. Monitor and document learner progress to ensure outcomes are being achieved and individual learner needs are being met 5.2. Make adjustments to the delivery sessions to reflect specific needs and circumstances 5.3. Manage inappropriate behaviour to ensure learning can take place 5.4. Maintain and store learner records according to organisational requirements

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- presentation skills to ensure delivery is engaging and relevant, including:
  - synthesising information and ideas
  - preparing equipment, such as data projectors and computer presentation applications
  - speaking with appropriate tone and pitch
  - using language appropriate to audience
  - encouraging and dealing appropriately with questions
- group facilitation skills to ensure that:
  - every individual has an opportunity for participation and input
  - group cohesion is maintained
  - behaviour that puts others at risk is observed, interpreted and addressed
  - discussion and group interaction are enhanced
- conflict resolution and negotiation skills to:
  - identify critical points, issues, concerns and problems
  - identify options for changing behaviours
- oral communication and language skills to:

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- motivate learners to transfer skills and knowledge
- engage with the learner
- interpersonal skills to maintain appropriate relationships and ensure inclusivity
- observation skills to monitor individual and group progress

Required knowledge

- introductory knowledge of learning theories
- sound knowledge of learning principles
- sound knowledge of learner styles
- industry area and subject matter of the delivery
- learner group profile, including characteristics and needs of individual learners in the group
- content and requirements of the learning program and/or delivery plan
- different delivery methods and techniques appropriate to face-to-face group delivery
- techniques for the recognition and resolution of inappropriate behaviours
- behaviours in learners that may indicate learner difficulties
- organisational record-management systems and reporting requirements
- evaluation and revision techniques
- specific resources, equipment and support services available for learners with special needs
- relevant policy, legal requirements, codes of practice and national standards, including commonwealth and state or territory legislation that may affect training and assessment in the vocational education and training sector
- OHS relating to the facilitation of group-based learning, including:
  - assessment and risk control measures
  - reporting requirements for hazards
  - safe use and maintenance of relevant equipment
  - emergency procedures
  - sources of OHS information
  - role of key workplace persons
- policies and procedures relevant to the learning environment

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Establish effective work environment for learning	1.1. Establish and agree upon objectives and scope of the work-based learning 1.2. Analyse work practices and routines to determine their effectiveness in meeting established learning objectives 1.3. Identify and address OHS implications of using work as the basis for learning
2. Develop a work-based learning pathway	2.1. Address contractual requirements and responsibilities for learning at work 2.2. Arrange for integration and monitoring of external learning activities with the work-based learning pathway 2.3. Obtain agreement from relevant personnel to implement the work-based learning pathway
3. Establish the learning-facilitation relationship	3.1. Identify context for learning and individual's learning style 3.2. Select appropriate technique or process to facilitate learning and explain the basis of the technique to learner 3.3. Develop, document and discuss individualised learning plan with learner 3.4. Access, read and interpret documentation outlining the OHS responsibilities of the various parties in the

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- oral communication and language skills to:
  - motivate the learner
  - transfer skills and knowledge
- interpersonal skills to maintain appropriate relationships
- observation skills to monitor individual progress
- literacy skills to:
  - read and interpret organisational documents, legal documents and contracts
  - complete and maintain documentation
- organisational skills to provide guidance and feedback to individuals
- communication skills, including:
  - using effective verbal and non-verbal language
  - using critical listening and questioning techniques
  - giving constructive and supportive feedback
  - assisting learners to paraphrase advice or instructions back to the trainer/facilitator
  - providing clear and concrete options and advice
  - using appropriate industry/profession terminology and language
  - ensuring language, literacy and numeracy used is appropriate to learners

Required knowledge

- systems, processes and practices within the organisation where work-based learning is taking place
- operational demands of the work and impact of changes on work roles
- organisational work culture, including industrial relations environment
- systems for identifying skill needs
- introductory knowledge of different learning styles and how to encourage learning in each, for example:
  - visual learners
  - audio learners
  - kinaesthetic learners
  - theoretical learners
- relevant policy, legislation, codes of practice and national standards that may affect training and assessment in the vocational education and training sector
- OHS relating to the work role, including:
  - hazards relating to the industry and specific workplace

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- reporting requirements for hazards and incidents
- specific procedures for work tasks
- safe use and maintenance of relevant equipment
- emergency procedures
- sources of OHS information

Evidence Guide*EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Assessment must address the scope of this unit and reflect all components of the unit. A range of appropriate assessment methods and evidence-gathering techniques must be used to determine competency. A judgement of competency should only be made when the assessor is confident that the required outcomes of the unit have been achieved and that consistent performance has been demonstrated.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- prepare and facilitate work-based learning
- provide evidence of a minimum of two examples of developing work-based learning pathways, that include:
  - identifying needs for learning
  - analysing work practices, work environment and work activities
  - organising and allocating work in a way that reflects learning needs and provides effective learning opportunities through work processes
- provide a minimum of two examples of a learning facilitation relationship being conducted:
  - with different individuals
  - demonstrating communication skills and flexibility
  - demonstrating one or more of the processes or techniques identified.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Evidence must be gathered in the workplace wherever possible. Where no workplace is available, a simulated workplace must be

EVIDENCE GUIDE

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- communication and interpersonal skills to:
  - apply active and reflective listening
  - adapt language to meet learner requirements
  - apply effective questioning techniques
  - maintain appropriate relationships
  - use appropriate body language
  - interpret resistance, reluctance, uncertainty, enthusiasm and confusion
  - monitor group and individual interactions
  - manage conflict/behavioural difficulties
  - monitor learner readiness for assessment/new areas of learning
- literacy skills to:
  - select, read and interpret Training Package/accredited course information
  - read and interpret information from a range of sources to identify and respond to learner needs, goals, skills and learning styles
- skills in delivery for a range of learning methods
- evaluation skills to:
  - identify gaps in skills or knowledge
  - systematically evaluate own or others' practice to improve performance or understanding
- problem solving skills to:
  - adjust strategies and address learning barriers
  - reliably evaluate alternative solutions.

Required knowledge

- the main branches of learning theory incorporating behavioural learning theory; cognitive learning theory; experiential learning theory; information processing theory and current research on learning as it relates to teaching in an adult environment
- different delivery modes and facilitation techniques and their appropriateness for different learners and learning situations
- code of practice and/or ethics relevant to the vocational education and training sector
- ways in which Training Packages, accredited curricula and learning resources can be contextualised to meet the needs of individual learners without compromising standards.

Evidence Guide

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENT	PERFORMANCE CRITERIA
1. Define parameters of the learning program	1.1. Clarify purpose and type of learning program with key stakeholders 1.2. Access and confirm the competency standards and other training specifications on which to base the learning program 1.3. Identify language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the program 1.4. Identify and consider characteristics of the target learner group
2. Work within the vocational education and training (VET) policy framework	2.1. Access relevant VET policies and frameworks, and apply to work practices 2.2. Identify changes to training packages and accredited courses and apply these to program development 2.3. Conduct work according to organisational quality assurance policies and procedures
3. Develop program content	3.1. Research, develop and document specific subject matter content according to agreed design options 3.2. Evaluate existing learning resources for content relevance and quality 3.3. Specify assessment requirements of the learning program

4. Design structure of the learning program	4.1. Break the learning content into manageable segments and document timeframe for each segment 4.2. Determine and confirm delivery strategies and required assessment methods and tools 4.3. Document complete learning program in line with organisational requirements 4.4. Review complete program with key stakeholders and adjust as required 4.5. Ensure a safe learning progression by analysing risks in the learning environment and including a risk control plan

Required Skills and Knowledge

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- organisational skills to ensure resources are available and suitable
- evaluation skills to determine the time required for each learning segment and the overall timelines of the learning program
- cognitive skills to develop the learning program content and design its structure
- language and literacy skills to read and interpret a range of documentation, including technical and subject matter documents, references and texts

Required knowledge

- information about training package developers and course accreditation agencies responsible for specific learning program parameters
- training packages and relevant competency standards to be used as the basis of the learning program
- other performance standards and criteria to be used as the basis of the learning program, where relevant
- distinction and relationship between a training package/accredited course, learning strategy and learning program, where linked
- different purposes and focus of learning programs
- sound knowledge of learning principles
- instructional design principles relating to different design options for learning program design and structure
- availability and types of different relevant learning resources, learning materials

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- and pre-developed learning activities
- methodology relating to developing and documenting new learning activities and related learning materials
  - different delivery modes and methods
  - relevant policies, legal requirements, codes of practice and national standards, including commonwealth and state or territory legislation that may affect training and assessment in the VET sector
  - relevant OHS knowledge relating to the work role, and OHS considerations that need to be included in the learning program

Evidence Guide*EVIDENCE GUIDE

The Evidence Guide provides advice on assessment and must be read in conjunction with the performance criteria, required skills and knowledge, range statement and the Assessment Guidelines for the Training Package.

Overview of assessment

Assessment must address the scope of this unit and reflect all components of the unit. Arrange of appropriate assessment methods and evidence-gathering techniques must be used to determine competency. A judgement of competency should only be made when the assessor is confident that the required outcomes of the unit have been achieved and that consistent performance has been demonstrated.

Critical aspects for assessment and evidence required to demonstrate competency in this unit

Evidence of the ability to:

- design, develop and review learning programs within the VET context
- prepare and develop a minimum of two learning programs:
  - that contain differentiated learning program designs to reflect particular needs, contexts and timelines
  - at least one of which must be based on competency standards or accredited courses and must cover at least one entire unit of competency or accredited course module.

Context of and specific resources for assessment

Evidence must be gathered in the workplace whenever possible. Where no workplace is available, a simulated workplace must be provided.

Modification History

Not applicable.

Unit Descriptor

Unit descriptor	This unit describes the performance outcomes, skills and knowledge required to use training packages and accredited courses as tools to support industry, organisation and individual competency development needs.

Application of the Unit

Application of the unit	This unit typically applies to a person working in or with training and/or assessment organisations as an entry-level trainer, teacher, facilitator or assessor. It assumes that the person is working from a pre-defined training product, such as a training package or accredited course, and applying that product to meet client needs.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Select appropriate training package or accredited course	1.1. Confirm training and/or assessment needs of client 1.2. Identify and source training packages and/or accredited courses which could satisfy client needs 1.3. Use training products in line with the training and assessment organisation's quality assurance policies and procedures
2. Analyse and interpret the qualifications framework	2.1. Read and interpret qualification rules 2.2. Review and determine applicable licensing requirements and prerequisites 2.3. Determine suitable electives that meet client needs and job roles
3. Analyse and interpret units of competency and accredited modules	3.1. Select individual unit or accredited module to meet client needs 3.2. Read, analyse and interpret all parts of the unit or accredited module for application to client needs 3.3. Analyse links between unit and/or accredited module to develop effective applications for the client 3.4. Document analysis of unit or accredited module in a clear and accessible manner
4. Contextualise units and modules for client applications	4.1. Use information from the client to contextualise the unit or accredited module to meet client needs 4.2. Use advice on contextualisation produced by the training package developer or course developer to meet client needs

5. Analyse and interpret assessment guidance	5.1. Read, analyse and apply the assessment guidance of the relevant training package or accredited course 5.2. Determine any special requirements for assessment or reasonable adjustment to suit client needs

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- communication and interpersonal skills to collaborate with others in using training products
- planning skills to develop a structure for a particular application of training packages and accredited courses
- cognitive skills to analyse, interpret and apply the various components of selected training packages and accredited courses
- research skills to analyse and interpret training package and accredited course content to meet client needs

Required knowledge

- Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) guidelines, including characteristics of AQF qualification levels
- functions and responsibilities of training package developers and course accreditation agencies, and their roles as key vocational education and training (VET) organisations
- dimensions of competency
- format and structure of accredited courses
- format and structure of competency standards
- function of training packages and accredited curriculum as benchmarks in a competency-based VET training and assessment system
- methodology relating to analysing and using competency standards for a range of applications and purposes to meet the needs of a diverse range of VET clients
- language and terminology used in training packages and accredited courses
- parts of training packages that can be contextualised and parts that cannot
- structure of training packages and the role and purpose of each endorsed component

REQUIRED SKILLS AND KNOWLEDGE

- sources of training package information

Elements describe the essential outcomes of a unit of competency.

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element. Where bold italicised text is used, further information is detailed in the required skills and knowledge section and the range statement. Assessment of performance is to be consistent with the evidence guide.

Elements and Performance Criteria

1. Research the learning resource requirements	1.1 Clarify with the client the brief, focus and type of learning resource 1.2 Research the target audience, their learning needs and the learning environment for the resource 1.3 Gather, collate and analyse relevant existing information 1.4 Identify any ethical and legal considerations and act on them 1.5 Write a development work plan
2. Design the learning resource and plan the content	2.1 Generate a range of design options using a variety of techniques 2.2 Develop and confirm with the client an outline or prototype for the learning resource 2.3 Analyse content specifications of the learning product and map out proposed content
3. Develop the learning resource content	3.1 Develop content and content specifications in accordance with the agreed design 3.2 Establish mechanisms for reviewing work in progress 3.3 Ensure any text is clear, concise, grammatically correct and appropriate for the intended audience 3.4 Ensure any visuals are relevant, instructive and appropriate for the intended audience
4. Review learning resource prior to implementation	4.1 Check resource content to ensure the accuracy and relevance of information against specifications 4.2 Check text, format and visual design for clarity and focus 4.3 Conduct an external review using appropriate review methods and incorporate feedback 4.4 Review final draft against the brief and other relevant criteria to ensure it meets all requirements prior to delivery to the client
5. Evaluate the design and development process	5.1 Review the design and development process against appropriate evaluation criteria 5.2 Reflect on the development process and methods and identify areas for improvement 5.3 Document identified improvements for future projects

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analytical skills to:
  - identify critical learning points
  - structure and weight the contents appropriately
  - determine appropriateness of feedback
- communication and interpersonal skills to:
  - establish and confirm requirements
  - collaborate with a range of people
  - seek feedback from others
- literacy and writing skills, including:
  - writing for different audiences
  - writing to the appropriate level
  - using an appropriate style
- planning skills to:
  - develop and schedule work plans
  - monitor and manage outcomes
- problem solving skills to:
  - analyse, identify and develop strategies to meet identified challenges
  - identify difficulties of those participating in provision
  - select and use a variety of problem-solving strategies
- review and analysis skills to:
  - identify areas for improvement
  - recognise personal limitations
- research skills to find content and relevant information.

Required knowledge

- principles, theories and contemporary practices of instructional design,
- the main branches of learning theory incorporating behavioural learning theory; cognitive learning theory; experiential learning theory; information processing theory and current research on learning as it relates to teaching in an adult environment
- language, literacy and numeracy (LLN) issues, such as:
  - requirements of target audience
  - using the Australian Core Skills Framework (ASCF) as a framework to aid instructional design
- legal, organisational and ethical responsibilities associated with the assessment system, including:
  - maintaining client privacy and confidentiality

- providing accurate information
- duty of care under common law
- compliance with AQTF requirements
- copyright and privacy laws, including the use of electronic technology.

Required Skills and Knowledge

This section describes the skills and knowledge required for this unit.

Required skills

- analysis and interpretation skills to:
  - evaluate information management systems, policies and procedures of an organisation
  - select relevant evaluation information and documentation
  - access and interpret the organisation's standards and values
  - analyse records/notes of the evaluation process
- communication skills to:
  - explain the evaluation process
  - give clear and precise instructions and advice
  - discuss the evaluation process with other relevant people
  - seek information relevant to the evaluation
  - discuss the evaluation outcome with the stakeholders
- language and literacy skills to:
  - interpret training program requirements (including, where appropriate AQTF requirements)
  - develop resources to support the evaluation process
  - communicate with key stakeholders
  - produce and maintain documentation
- planning and organising skills to:
  - plan projects
  - plan and sequence work programs
  - coordinate the work of self and others
- research and evaluation skills to investigate training and workforce data, and determine and implement appropriate improvement.

Required knowledge

- Commonwealth and state/territory legislation, codes of practice and standards, for example:
  - Training Packages and accredited courses, and what comprises quality training and assessment services
  - how training and/or assessment organisations operate

- terminology relating to quality evaluation processes
- evaluation models/methods, including the Kirkpatrick Model
- records management systems of the organisation
- other relevant policy, legislation, codes of practice and national standards, including Commonwealth and state/territory legislation, for example:
  - plagiarism
  - copyright and privacy laws
  - security of information and confidentiality requirements

TLIC2025 Operate four wheel drive vehicle

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Application

This unit involves the skills and knowledge required to operate a four wheel drive vehicle safely in a range of conditions in accordance with the relevant state/territory legislated roads and traffic licence requirements.

It includes driving a four wheel drive vehicle on roads, traversing gradients, ascending and descending steep gradients, and operating in rugged terrain. It also includes using vehicle equipment/controls and completing pre- and post-operational checks.

Recognised driver's licence or provisional car licence must be held prior to commencing this unit of competency.

Driving involves the application of four wheel drive vehicle operating principles and procedures to maintain the safety and operation of a four wheel drive vehicle across a variety of on-road and off-road contexts.

Driving is performed with limited supervision, and with duty of care responsibility for self and others in achieving the prescribed outcomes.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

Pre-requisite Unit

Competency Field

C – Vehicle Operation

Unit Sector

Not applicable.

Elements and Performance Criteria

ELEMENTS

Elements describe the essential outcomes.

1 Operate four wheel drive vehicles on roads

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

- 1.1 Pre-start checks of vehicle and equipment are carried out in accordance with manufacturer specifications and roadworthy requirements
- 1.2 Job hazards are identified and required action is taken to minimise, control or eliminate identified hazards
- 1.3 Tyres are checked for pressure suitable for terrain and/or changed in accordance with manufacturer and workplace procedures
- 1.4 Vehicle fuel, water and any ancillary equipment are checked before starting vehicle journey in accordance with manufacturer and workplace procedures
- 1.5 Loads are secured in accordance with workplace and legislative requirements
- 1.6 Vehicle is driven on-road and off-road in accordance with legislative and workplace requirements, at appropriate operating speeds for road or track conditions and hazards
- 1.7 Vehicle equipment/controls are set and operated in accordance with manufacturer instructions for operation in surrounding terrain
- 1.8 Road conditions are constantly monitored, negotiated and appropriate operations and control techniques are used to ensure safe vehicle operation and no injury to people or damage to vehicle, tracks or loads is sustained
- 1.9 Vehicle is parked and shut down in accordance with workplace and manufacturer requirements

2 Operate vehicle on, or across a gradient

- 2.1 Intended vehicle path is inspected prior to negotiating gradient
- 2.2 Loads are secured in accordance with workplace and legislative requirements
- 2.3 Appropriate gear and/or range are selected and engine revolutions are maintained to ensure constant traction

- 2.4 Vehicle is driven on-road and off-road in accordance with legislative and workplace requirements at appropriate speeds for conditions and gradient hazards
  - 2.5 Vehicle equipment/controls are set and operated in accordance with manufacturer instructions for operation in, on or across a gradient
  - 2.6 Gradient conditions are constantly monitored, and appropriate operations and control techniques are used to ensure safe vehicle operation and no injury to people or damage to vehicle, tracks or loads is sustained
- 3 Operate vehicle ascending a steep gradient
- 3.1 Intended vehicle path is inspected prior to negotiating ascent
  - 3.2 Appropriate gear and/or range are selected to ascend grade, and engine revolutions are maintained to ensure constant traction
  - 3.3 Vehicle equipment/controls are set and operated in accordance with manufacturer instructions for operation while ascending a steep gradient
  - 3.4 Stall recovery techniques are applied in accordance with manufacturer and workplace procedures
  - 3.5 Ascent conditions are constantly monitored, and appropriate operations and control techniques are used to ensure safe vehicle operation and no injury to people or damage to vehicle, tracks or loads is sustained
- 4 Operate vehicle descending a steep gradient
- 4.1 Intended vehicle path is inspected prior to negotiating gradient
  - 4.2 Appropriate gear and/or range are selected to descend grade, and engine revolutions are maintained to ensure constant traction
  - 4.3 Vehicle equipment/controls are set and operated in accordance with manufacturer instructions for operation while descending a steep gradient
  - 4.4 Stall recovery techniques are applied in accordance with manufacturer and workplace procedures
  - 4.5 Descent conditions are constantly monitored, and appropriate operations and control techniques are used to ensure safe vehicle operation and no injury to people or damage to vehicle, tracks or loads is sustained

- 5 Operate vehicle in rugged terrain
- 5.1 Intended vehicle path is inspected prior to negotiating rugged terrain
  - 5.2 Appropriate gear and/or range are selected to negotiate rugged terrain and engine revolutions are maintained to ensure constant traction
  - 5.3 Vehicle equipment/controls are set and operated in accordance with manufacturer instructions for operation in surrounding terrain
  - 5.4 Vehicle chains are fitted in accordance with manufacturer instructions and environmental conditions, as required
  - 5.5 Vehicle load is inspected, positioned and secured to maximise traction for four wheel driving
  - 5.6 Rugged conditions are constantly monitored, and appropriate operations and control techniques are used to ensure safe vehicle operation and no injury to people or damage to vehicle, tracks or loads is sustained
- 6 Complete operations
- 6.1 Vehicle is parked and shut down in accordance with workplace and manufacturer requirements
  - 6.2 Faults or malfunctions are corrected and/or reported in accordance with manufacturer and workplace requirements
  - 6.3 Vehicle and equipment are cleaned and stored after use in accordance with workplace requirements
  - 6.4 Documentation and journey reports are completed in accordance with workplace procedures

Foundation Skills

Foundation skills essential to performance are explicit in the performance criteria of this unit of competency.

Range of Conditions

Range is restricted to essential operating conditions and any other variables essential to the work environment.

Non-essential conditions can be found in the Companion Volume Implementation Guide.

Unit Mapping Information

This unit replaces and is equivalent to TLIC2025A Operate four wheel drive vehicle.

Assessment Requirements for TLIC2025 Operate four wheel drive vehicle

Modification History

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria on at least one occasion and include:

- applying relevant legislation and workplace procedures
- cleaning and storing vehicles and equipment
- communicating effectively with others
- completing relevant documentation
- conducting pre-start checks
- demonstrating low-risk driving behaviours
- identifying and correcting minor operational faults
- identifying job hazards and taking required action
- implementing contingency plans
- interpreting and following operational instructions and prioritising work
- modifying activities depending on operational contingencies, risk situations and environments
- reporting and/or rectifying identified problems, faults or malfunctions promptly, in accordance with regulatory requirements and workplace procedures
- reading and interpreting relevant instructions, procedures, information and signs
- using and adjusting vehicle equipment/controls as required:
  - brakes
  - electronic traction control
  - freewheeling hubs
  - gears/range
  - heating and cooling systems
  - jacks
  - tyres
- working systematically with required attention to detail without injury to self or others, or damage to goods or equipment.

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria and include knowledge of:

- documentation and record keeping requirements
- effect of hard surface driving (such as transmission wind up) on a 4x4 system
- effect of loads while negotiating a gradient
- effect on centre of gravity of changing fluid loads
- efficient driving techniques and safe driving strategies
- environmental impact of 4x4 driving
- hazards and risks associated with traversing cross gradients
- hazards that may exist when operating a four wheel drive vehicle in on-road and off-road situations, and action to minimise, control or eliminate identified hazards
- low risk driving behaviours:
  - creating and maintaining crash avoidance space
  - protecting crash avoidance space
  - road rules and directions
  - space and time management
- pre- and post-operational checks and related action
- problems that may occur when operating a four wheel drive vehicle, and action that can be taken to report or resolve the problems
- relevant land management procedures and regulations
- relevant state/territory road traffic authority road rules, regulations, permit and licence requirements
- relevant work health and safety (WHS)/occupational health and safety (OHS) and environmental procedures and regulations
- vehicle equipment/controls, instruments and indicators, and their use
- vehicle handling procedures and techniques for a range of road and track conditions
- workplace procedures for operating a four wheel drive vehicle in both on-road and off-road situations.

Assessment Conditions

As a minimum, assessors must satisfy applicable regulatory requirements, which include requirements in the Standards for Registered Training Organisations current at the time of assessment.

As a minimum, assessment must satisfy applicable regulatory requirements, which include requirements in the Standards for Registered Training Organisations current at the time of assessment.

Assessment must occur in workplace operational situations, where it is appropriate to do so; where this is not appropriate, assessment must occur in simulated workplace operational situations that replicate workplace conditions in a four wheel drive vehicle typical of that used in industry.

Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.

Resources for assessment include:

- a range of relevant exercises, case studies and/or simulations
- applicable documentation including workplace procedures, regulations, codes of practice and operation manuals
- relevant materials, tools, equipment and personal protective equipment currently used in industry.

A simulator/online assessment is not suitable for the final assessment of this unit of competency.

TLIE2007 Use communications systems

Modification History

Release 2. This is the second release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package:

- Minor word changes and reordering in Knowledge Evidence
- Minor statement changes in Assessment Conditions.

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Application

This unit involves the skills and knowledge required to use communications systems in accordance with relevant regulations and workplace procedures.

It includes identifying system features, operating a communications system effectively, using appropriate communications system protocols, maintaining equipment and completing documentation.

It involves applying established communication principles and practices, and using local technical, colloquial language and vocabulary in day-to-day communication.

Work is performed under some supervision, generally within a team environment.

No licensing, legislative or certification requirements apply to this unit at the time of publication.

PERFORMANCE CRITERIA

Elements describe the essential outcomes.

Performance criteria describe the performance needed to demonstrate achievement of the element.

1 Check communications system requirements

1.1 System features and control functions are identified

1.2 Impact of battery and signal levels on system's capability is determined

1.3 Mobile equipment is set up to optimise communication

1.4 Channels are selected appropriate to the communication as required

2 Communicate using communications technology

2.1 System checks are carried out to confirm communications system is operational, in accordance with manufacturer's instructions and workplace procedures

2.2 Communications system is operated safely in accordance with manufacturer's instructions, workplace procedures and regulatory requirements

2.3 Telephone and radio security are maintained in accordance with workplace procedures

2.4 Channel selection is appropriate for the location and type of communication

2.5 Messages are transmitted clearly and precisely, and user ethics and protocols are followed

2.6 Public address (PA) system is used, as required, to communicate with passengers and/or crew in accordance with operating procedures

2.7 Incoming messages are received and answered promptly and courteously in accordance with operating procedures and regulatory requirements

2.8 Appropriate language, protocols, procedures and codes are followed when using communications systems

2.9 Received messages are interpreted and recorded in accordance with workplace procedures

2.10 Clear and unambiguous vocal communication is used

3 Maintain communications

3.1 Equipment is checked and maintained in working order

equipment operational status		in accordance with workplace procedures
	3.2	Minor communications systems faults are promptly identified, diagnosed, and repaired or reported in accordance with workplace procedures
4 Complete documentation	4.1	Appropriate communications records are maintained in accordance with workplace procedures
	4.2	Communications records are stored/filed as required

Assessment Requirements for TLIE2007 Use communications systems

Modification History

Release 2. This is the second release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package:

- Minor word changes and reordering in Knowledge Evidence
- Minor statement changes in Assessment Conditions.

Release 1. This is the first release of this unit of competency in the TLI Transport and Logistics Training Package.

Performance Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria on at least one occasion and include:

- applying precautions and required action to minimise, control or eliminate hazards that may exist when using communications systems
- communicating and working effectively with others using available communications systems
- completing documentation related to work activities when using communications systems
- following communications security procedures
- identifying and using required communications technology
- implementing contingency plans
- modifying activities depending on differing operational contingencies, risk situations and environments
- monitoring communications equipment performance and taking appropriate action as required
- operating and adapting to differences in communications equipment in accordance with operating procedures
- planning, monitoring and prioritising work activities in terms of planned schedule, including predicting consequences and identifying improvements
- reading, interpreting and following communications systems instructions, procedures and relevant legislation
- reporting and/or rectifying identified problems, faults or malfunctions promptly in accordance with workplace procedures
- using communications equipment
- working systematically with required attention to detail without injury to self or others, or damage to goods or equipment.

Knowledge Evidence

Evidence required to demonstrate competence in this unit must be relevant to and satisfy all of the requirements of the elements and performance criteria and include knowledge of:

- communication techniques including barriers to effective communication and how to overcome them
- features of various communications systems
- minor routine maintenance procedures for communications equipment
- pre-operational checks for communications systems and equipment
- principles of effective communication
- procedures and protocols for using communications systems during an emergency
- protocols and procedures for communicating with others using relevant communications technology including public address (PA) systems
- relevant procedures and duty of care requirements
- relevant work health and safety (WHS)/occupational health and safety (OHS) responsibilities
- typical problems that may occur when using communications systems, and appropriate action and solutions.

Assessment Conditions

Assessors must hold credentials specified within the Standards for Registered Training Organisations current at the time of assessment.

Assessment must satisfy the Principles of Assessment and Rules of Evidence and all regulatory requirements included within the Standards for Registered Training Organisations current at the time of assessment.

Assessment must occur in workplace operational situations where it is appropriate to do so; where this is not appropriate, assessment must occur in simulated workplace operational situations that replicate workplace conditions.

Assessment processes and techniques must be appropriate to the language, literacy and numeracy requirements of the work being performed and the needs of the candidate.

Resources for assessment must include:

- a range of relevant exercises, case studies and/or other simulations
- relevant and appropriate materials, tools, equipment and personal protective equipment (PPE) currently used in industry
- applicable documentation, including workplace procedures, regulations, codes of practice and operation manuals.
